Civil Rights Bill Cleared Today For House Action by 10-2 Vote

FOREST FIRE CONTINUES—Wind-fanned fire eats through brush and scrub near Altona, N. Y., Aug. 24, close to the Canadian border. Fire began two days earlier and had burned more than 2,000 acres of woodland. About 150 volunteers were fighting the fire. (AP Wirephoto).

Rains End Forest Fire After Week-Long Battle

PLATTSBURGH (AP)—Heavy rain today quelled the worst forest fire in New York State in 13 years, after a week-long battle during which the flames blackened more than 3,000 acres of scrub pine.

The area, near the U. S. Canadian border, was declared "secure."

Weary firemen from three counties washed their smoke-blackened faces and left the scene, at the direction of forest ranger George Young of Saranac Lake. Young had supervised the fire-fighting from the air.

An estimated 75 forest rangers and other workers remained on duty.

Week of Suspense Ends

Residents of the village of Altona and the surrounding area 20 miles northwest of here breathed sighs of relief as the week of suspense ended.

Mel Titus, Clinton County fire coordinator, declared the area secure.

The hundreds of firemen, volunteers and forest rangers had saved the village of Altona and many other homes.

Titus had declared a state of emergency yesterday. Sheriff Emmett Ducatte had declared a state of natural disaster.

The fire area was sprinkled lightly with rain last night. Heavier rain bypassed the area.

Every volunteer company in Clinton County, with the exception of Plattsburgh, was assigned to fight the fire yesterday. Additional help was called in from seven communities in Essex and Franklin counties.

Civil Defense on Job

Under the sheriff's declaration of disaster, civil defense workers were recruited to aid the firefighters.

Some of the property burned was on the William H. Miner estate, a huge and wealthy farm where an agricultural research school recently was established.

Newsmen's Trip Is Held Up, China Making Demand

By JOHN RODERICK

HONG KONG (AP)—Plans to send American newsmen into Communist China appeared stalemated today by a Peiping demand for reciprocal U. S. admission of Red Chinese reporters. The State Department promptly rejected the Communist demand.

Radio Peiping announced last night that the State Department's decision to allow 24 U. S. reporters to work in Red China for six months "is completely unacceptable to the Chinese people."

Ask Same Treatment

The Chinese government "expects Chinese correspondents to be given reciprocal treatment to go to America to report," the broadcast commentary from the official Peiping People's Daily said.

Secretary of State Dulles' announcement in Washington Thursday permitting American newsmen in Communist China for the first time in eight years said the United States "will not accord reciprocal visas to Chinese bearing passports issued by the Chinese Communist regime." State Department officials said after the Peiping broadcast this stand will not be changed and they are not interested in negotiating a deal with the Reds.

The broadcast said the State Department is trying to "send people into our country to search out opportunities to create trouble. . .The wrecking activities of the U. S. government will come to nothing and will never be tolerated by the people of China."

Personal Income Here Last Year Was 324 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP)—Personal income in the United States last year reached a record 324 billion dollars. This was an average of $1,940 for every man, woman and child in the country—before taxes, that is.

The figures came out today in a Census Bureau report that showed, among other things:

Delaware's $2,858 was the highest per capita income in the country, 38 per cent above the national average. Mississippi was low with $964, less than half the average. Indiana hit the average almost on the nose with per capita income of $1,946.

Fifteen states and the District of Columbia were above the average, 33 states and Hawaii were below.

The report covered all sources of personal income, including wages and salaries, net income of unincorporated enterprises (including farms), net rental income, dividends, interest and such items as social security benefits, direct re-

Saugerties Girl, 18, Thrown From Auto

An 18-year-old Saugerties girl was hurt early this morning when her car failed to negotiate a curve on Canoe Hill road nine-tenths of a mile west of Saugerties, went out of control, throwing her from the vehicle to the pavement.

Lorraine Drechsler, 55 Lafayette street, was treated by a Saugerties physician for abrasions and contusions about the body.

Kingston state police reported that she was traveling east on a right curve but failed to negotiate it, left the road, sideswiping a utility pole, her 1951 sedan skidding around and throwing her to the pavement.

Trooper L. Luongo investigated. Time of the mishap was 3:15 a. m.

12 Meet Death On Highways of N. Y.

ALBANY (AP)—Accidents in New York State over the weekend took 19 lives.

Twelve persons met death on the highways. Three persons drowned and four died in other types of accidents.

There were three traffic accidents that each accounted for two lives.

Sam La Hood, 62, of Auburn, a railroad signalman was killed yesterday when cars of a derailed freight train sheared off his tower in Syracuse.

In Conewango Valley, Philip Bernard, 67, of Conewango Valley, was killed by electric shock Friday night when the metal pipe he was removing from a well struck a high-tension wire.

In Watervliet, Donald H. Cranston, 31, of Bennington, Vt., was killed by electric shock Sunday when he came into contact with a 13,000-volt power line while working at Watervliet Arsenal.

Joseph P. Gavin, 23, and Miss Marilyn Harris, 18, both of Andover, were killed Saturday when their car and a tractor trailer col-

Rain Aids Kerhonkson, Highland Is Critical

Weekend showers should help the Kerhonkson water situation but can do little for the Highland area, it was reported today by Harry Edinger, director of environmental sanitation of the Ulster County Health Department.

Workmen continued laying pipe from the Hudson river to the Highland Water District today to be ready in case of emergency.

Two pumps are already in position at the Hudson when more than two miles of pipe laying is completed, which may take several more days. The water, if needed, will be pumped into Reservoir No. 4. If used it will be heavily chlorinated.

Hopes for Showers

Edinger said today that he hopes the Highland area gets enough rain so that the river water won't be needed.

"That's what we're hoping and praying . . . It depends on what the Lord does."

He said that town of Lloyd and local officials of the area should be given credit for trying to "stay ahead of the problem."

Rapid Run-offs

Edinger said there was a "very hard shower" in the Ellenville area which should help the Kerhonkson supply. He described run-offs in the Shawangunks as "relatively rapid."

A representative of the local health department was in the Highland area this morning and reported to Edinger by telephone that weekend showers had not resulted in "any big help."

Transfer of Water

A pump is now moving water from Reservoir No. 5 into No. 4. This supply may be exhausted shortly if rains do not come.

Edinger said emergency chlorination equipment had already been delivered and are available if needed.

The showers of the past two days mean much to the Kerhonkson area where only 50 to 70 thousand gallons are consumed daily.

However, it means less to the Highland area where half a million gallons are consumed each day.

Reuther Presses To Cut Cars $100

DETROIT (AP) — United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther says he will press his inflation-fighting plan to cut 1958 car prices at least $100 despite the fact that the auto industry's "big three" have rejected it.

Reuther says he plans to issue his own analysis early this week of the reasons given by Ford Motor Co., General Motors Corp., and Chrysler Corp. for turning down his proposal to cut car prices in return for a UAW promise to modify contract demands in mid-1958.

Ford joined GM and Chrysler over the weekend in rejecting Reuther's bid for a joint union-management effort to curb inflation.

Henry Ford II told the United Auto Workers union president in effect, the same thing GM and Chrysler said:

"Ford pricing policies are not a subject for collective bargaining."

Agreeing with Reuher that inflation is a serious problem, the Ford president said, however, "We will not solve the problem with propaganda broadsides."

Railroad Cars Jump Tracks And Overpass Collapses

SYRACUSE (AP)—Weekend highway traffic was snarled into a mammoth jam late yesterday when a railroad overpass collapsed into a heavily traveled street after 34 railroad cars jumped the tracks.

A signalman was killed. No other injuries were reported.

The New York Central Railroad said the cause was not determined immediately.

Syracuse police said the 106-car train apparently "buckled" as it went over the bridge. Most of the derailed cars were gondolas loaded with coal. Cars and coal were spilled in all directions.

Unofficial estimates of the damage were in the neighborhood of one million dollars. Railroad officials estimated it would take 72 hours to clear the wreckage.

The signalman, Sam La Hood, 62, of Auburn, was on duty in a tower beside the tracks. It was sheared off and La Hood was buried beneath the debris.

Two automobiles narrowly escaped from beaneath the bridge as it fell.

The Central's three main freight tracks were ripped up and all railroad communications in central New York were interrupted briefly.

Police Chief Harold Kelly ordered an investigation. He said all members of the train crew would be questioned.

The wreck occurred on Park Street just at the city line where it becomes Route 37, the main highway leading to Watertown and to a Thruway entrance.

All available police and civil defense auxiliary police were called out to unsnarl the bumper-to-bumper traffic, heading back to the city after the weekend. Police said the jam was aggravated by sightseers who rushed to the scene.

The police quoted persons who witnessed the accident as saying that they saw wheels flying in the air and that then the bridge wobbled and crashed.

The train was enroute from Southport, near Elmira, to Dewitt.

GI Denies Luring Japanese Woman to Death as Scavenger

By KAY TATEISHI

MAEBASHI, Japan (AP)—William S. Girard today denied Japanese charges that he lured a woman brass scavenger to her death on a U. S. firing range.

Japanese prosecutors entered a new accusation that the Army specialist from Ottawa, Ill., shot at four other Japanese before an empty cartridge case fired from his grenade launcher killed Mrs. Naka Sakai on Jan. 30.

Denies Information

"The facts in the indictment are not correct," the 22-year-old GI told the three black - robed judges as his trial on a manslaughter charge opened in the Japanese district court here.

In a brief statement Girard told the court Mrs. Sakai's death "was an accident as far as I'm concerned and I'm sorry it happened." The prosecution charged that he threw out empty shell casings to entice the scavengers onto the firing range, then shot at them.

Cites Official Duty

Moving that the indictment be dismissed, the soldier's chief Japanese attorney, Itsuro Hayashi, renewed the claim that Girard was carrying out his official duty and therefore is not subject to Japanese jurisdiction.

This argument originally had set off considerable Congressional and press criticism in the United States of the Army's decision to let Japan try Girard. The U. S. Supreme Court finally upheld the Army action, ruling that a Japanese trial would not violate the soldier's constitutional rights.

Waits for Evidence

Presiding Judge Yuzo Kawachi said he would not rule on the jurisdiction issue until all the evidence in the case is heard and "the final decision is given." This is expected to be in late October or November Hayashi said this was agreeable to him.

In accordance with the Japanese custom of extended recesses between sessions, the trial was adjourned after today's hearing until Sept. 6. It will move then to the Somagahara firing range, where the fatal shooting occurred.

The trial opened in a steaming hot little courtroom into which were jammed more than 90 people, including 35 spectators chosen by lot and 43 reporters. Heavy curtains were drawn across the closed windows to prevent photographing into the courtroom.

More than 1,000 Japanese and about 250 newsmen, photographers, newsreel and television men milled around outside the courthouse. Some of the Japanese carried such slogans as "Keep Girard under Japanese custody," "Show the world, give Girard strictly fair trial" and "Judge! Don't disgrace the pride of the Japanese people."

Johnson Will Support Boost In Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson said today he will support an increase of about a half billion dollars in new foreign aid appropriations.

The Texas Democrat made this announcement after an hour-long breakfast meeting with President Eisenhower. It was the first time they met privately with no others present.

Johnson said he told the President he was prepared to support "a substantial increase" over the 2½ billion dollars in new aid money voted by the House.

Asked to elaborate on the amount he would support, Johnson told newsmen it would be "in the neighborhood of a half billion dollars" above the House figure.

Both Are Concerned

He said the President is "very much concerned" with getting adequate funds for the mutual security program, and added: "I've been concerned about it for some time."

Eisenhower has voiced hope the Senate will vote the full $3,367,000,000 provided in the authorization bill passed previously by both houses. The President likewise has said he hopes senators

Kuwalty Adds Weight To Anti-U.S. Drive

By ANGELO NATALE

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — President Shukri Kuwatly has returned from Egypt to add his voice to the growing anti-American campaign trumpeted by Syria's new leftist army command.

Kuwatly, who flew to Cairo a week ago amid reports he was stepping down in the face of the leftist army takeover, declared on his return last night Syria would stand fast "despite pressures and plots of imperialism, the west and America."

Looking drawn but tanned after his week of conferences and medical treatment, Kuwatly told newsmen here that Egypt also was determined to resist imperialist pressures. The situation in Egypt, he added, was "good and strong, the same as in Syria."

Total Arab Unity

Kuwatly held a final two-hour conference in Cairo with Egyptian President Nasser, who saw him off at the airport. Earlier, before leaving Alexandria, where he had been hospitalized, the Syrian president told newsmen his country looks forward to uniting with Egypt "in a union which will be the nucleus for total Arab unity."

"All Arab nations unite in time of danger thereby giving us confidence we never will be defeated or harmed," he said.

Gen. Afif Bizry, the army's new communist chief of staff, and a group of high army officers greeted Kuwatly at the airport.

The Biggest Threat

Damascus Radio earlier broadcast an interview by Bizry with Lebanese newsmen in which he said Zionism rather than Communism poses the biggest threat to Syria.

Bizry also declared that Syria's position was one of non-alliance with either capitalism or communism.

Not Slipped Completely

Non-Communist Arab leaders in the Lebanese capital of Beirut speculated that Kuwatly's return to Damascus indicated Syria had not yet slipped completely into the Soviet orbit. Otherwise, they declared, he would not have gone home.

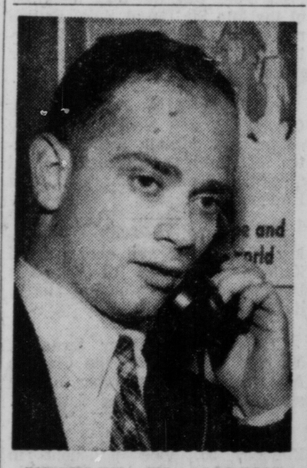

Kuwatly has been considered a major force keeping Syria from becoming a full-fledged Soviet satellite.

Talks Most Helpful

Loy Henderson, U. S. State Department Middle East expert who flew to Istanbul during the weekend for consultations on the Syrian developments, said he had found the talks "most helpful."

Henderson conferred with Turkish Premier Adnan Menderes and had separate talks with King Hussein of Jordan and King Faisal of Iraq in the Turkish city.

It was reported Henderson will go on to Ankara in a day or so and spend the remainder of the week in further talks on U. S. efforts to prevent Communism's spread in the Middle East.

Reports Stress Peril of Atomic Fallout in Future

WASHINGTON (AP)—The peril of atomic fallout has been emphasized again in separate reports from opposite ends of the nation.

In Washington yesterday, the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee released a cautiously worded summary of testimony suggesting that continuance of nuclear tests at present rates could endanger future generations.

In Palo Alto, Calif., a group of experts said the peril point could be reached in 1970, and may already have been reached in some parts of the world.

Deadly Showers

The reports pointed up the continuing controversy over the known and unknown dangers of fallout—the deadly shower of radioactivity thrown out by nuclear explosions.

Members of the American Institute of Biological Science, meeting in Palo Alto, said American British and Russian nuclear tests now are spreading about 10 million tons of radioactive material over the earth every year.

The figure was given by Dr. H. Bentley Glass, a Johns Hopkins University geneticist, in a news conference in which several other specialists participated.

50 Million Tons

Dr. Curtice L. Newcombe, of the Navy Radiological Defense Laboratory in San Francisco, said it has been calculated that about 50 million tons of fallout material has been released in U. S. bomb tests to date.

Newcombe said it also has been calculated that 70 million tons is the theoretical safety limit.

The congressional committee's report was hedged with many scientific reservations expressed in conflicting testimony taken in fallout hearings last May and June.

Resistance Is Question

The committee expressed reservations about the limits of human resistance to radioactive strontium, one of the most dangerous elements in atomic fallout.

It said 100 "strontium units" of the bone-seeking element Strontium 90 has been taken as a safe level for absorption by the population. But it added this is subject to "serious questions and limitations" as an acceptable figure.

One hundred strontium units has been calculated to be four times as much as is likely to result from continued testing at the present rate.

Poll Seen Favorable On Passage

Measure Bottled Since August 7th

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Rules Committee today voted 10-2 to clear the long-blocked civil rights bill for House action.

The committee vote overrode Chairman Howard W. Smith (D-Va) and Rep. Colmer (D-Miss), last-ditch opponents of the compromise measure, and paved the way for House action expected tomorrow.

Speedy Passing Seen

Speedy House passage is expected for the measure which had been bottled up in the rules committee since Senate passage Aug. 7.

The meeting of the rules committee was forced by seven members because Chairman Smith had refused to call a session of the committee.

Under House rules, a majority of a committee can force a meeting when the chairman does not call one.

Compromise Worked Out

Rep. Hugh Scott (R-Pa) signed at 9:30 a. m. a call for a meeting previously signed by six Democrats.

A proposed compromise bill was worked out last week by Democratic and Republican congressional leaders. It would give federal judges limited powers to punish for criminal contempt in voting rights cases tried without a jury.

Committee members were requested by their party leaders to be on hand early today. Also summoned back from a vacation in Laconia, N. H., was House Democratic leader McCormack of Massachusetts.

No Filibuster Contemplated

Once a meeting is held, the Rules Committee is expected to write the compromise into the bill before sending it to the House for action, probably tomorrow.

Then the Senate will act. Southern senators apparently have no intention of staging a filibuster, but plan to voice again their objections to the legislation.

Final Form

In its final form the bill is expected to contain:

1. Provision for a bipartisan civil rights investigating commission and for a special section of the Justice Department to handle civil rights matters.

2. New powers for the attorney general to seek U. S. court injunctions against violations or threatened violations of voting rights.

3. A special provision—the heart of the final compromise—that a judge shall decide whether a person charged with criminal contempt for violating an injunction shall be tried by himself, or by a jury.

If the judge tries the case himself and levies a penalty of more than 45 days in jail and a $300 fine, the defendant would have the right to a new trial before a jury. The maximum penalty for such injunction violations would be six months in jail and $1,000 fine.

Under the compromise, civil contempt cases would be tried without a jury. Criminal contempt proceedings are those designed to punish violations of court orders. Civil contempt cases are aimed at getting compliance.

The compromise also is expected to include a section making clear that a ban, backed by criminal penalties, on releasing testimony received by the investigating commission in closed-door session does not apply to newsmen.

Town Mourning Deaths Of 3 Buried in Avalanche

BOSCOBEL, Wis. (AP)—This quiet Wisconsin river town today mourned the deaths of three little sisters who died when tons of dirt buried them in a quarry near Dixon, Ill.

Funeral services were scheduled for this morning at Immaculate Conception Church for Nancy, 10, Ruthie, 9, and Theresa, 8, the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Gurnsey of Boscobel.

Besides their parents, the girls are survived by five other Gurnsey children—Mildred, 11, John, 6, Virginia, 3, Joanne, 2, and Harold, 6 months.

The girls disappeared from their temporary trailer home near Dixon last Wednesday.

Scores of volunteers hunted the countryside until someone noticed small footprints at the rim of the pit on Quarry Hill, the quarry which Gurnsey's employer, the H. Turner Construction Co. of Boscobel had contracted to fill.

The Gurnseys were living in the trailer home about half a mile from the quarry while Gurnsey directed the filling operation.

Before dawn Saturday workmen uncovered the three small bodies.

James E. Bales, state's attorney for Lee County, Ill., told an inquest jury in Dixon Saturday his investigation showed the girls were buried by an avalanche of dirt started by a grader. Bales said the girls were playing out of sight of the machine operator. He said the mishap apparently occurred Wednesday.

Gurnsey said yesterday he agreed with investigators that the girls apparently were buried by earth and stone pushed down on them by his crew.

"I had warned them several times not to go near the place," Gurnsey said.

Action Taken to Head Off Big Phone Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Some 23,000 telephone equipment workers remained on the job in 43 states and the District of Columbia today as union and management negotiators sought to head off a threatened strike.

A one-year contract between the Western Electric Co., manufacturing arm of the Bell Telephone System, and the installers' unit of the Communications Workers of America expired last midnight.

However, after day-long negotiations yesterday, the union announced that it was withholding strike action until at least after today's scheduled meeting.

The dispute centers over wages. The CWA yesterday rejected Western Electric's first wage offer of the current talks. The offer called for wage boosts ranging from four to nine cents an hour.

Gray got the part, valued at about 60 cents, but found he needed another small part to finish. Under Army regulations, the plane would have to return to Ft. Sill and fly back the part. Gary got impatient, walked to a store, and purchased the part—for 40 cents.

Dutchess Fair Reports 40,663 Three Day Total

A total of 40,663 paid admissions have been reported during the first three days of the 112th annual Dutchess County Fair in Rhinebeck.

The largest number of paid admissions was recorded Saturday —21,594.

Grandmother Denies Two Live With Her

An irate woman today denied that two men arrested last Friday night reside at 22 Broadway.

The two, who paid fines on minor charges Saturday morning in City Court, were Donald B. Lindley, 38, and Edward C. Martini, 26.

Mrs. Grace Dutcher of 22 Broadway told The Freeman today that neither lived at that address, although they gave it to police at the time of their arrest Friday at 10:03 p. m.

Picked up at the corner of Fair and St. James streets, Lindley was charged with driving a car without a 1957 registration, and Martini with public intoxication.

Lindley was fined $10 and Martini $5 by City Judge Raymond J. Mino.

Mrs. Dutcher said Martini, her grandson, had resided with her up until about two weeks ago, and that she is holding his clothing for back board.

Lindley never lived at the address she said.

The two were arrested in a 1949 car valued at $90, which bore 1955 license plates.

Police said the owner of the auto, reportedly taken from Rhinebeck, refused to press any charge.

Late Bulletin

Aid Restored

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Appropriations Committee voted today to restore $500,900,000 of the $809,650,000 which the House slashed from President Eisenhower's foreign aid money bill.

The committee voted 14-7 to recommend to the Senate $3,025,660,000 in new funds. It also approved the reappropriation of $667,050,000 in carryover funds for a total of $3,692,710,000.

By the same vote, the committee rejected a motion by Sen. Ellender (D-La) to hold new funds for military aid to the $1,250,000,000 allowed by the House.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson said earlier he would support a boost in aid funds of about half a billion dollars.

Editors Backing Model Laws On Informing Press

UTICA (AP)—The New York State Society of Newspaper Editors today instructed its resolutions committee to prepare a resolution asking endorsement of the Sigma Delta Chi model laws on freedom of information.

The resolutions committee will report tomorrow. The society's three-day convention opened yesterday.

The model laws of the journalistic fraternity require that all meetings of the governing bodies of municipalities and counties support in whole or in part by public funds or expending public funds be public meetings. They also require that all state, county and municipal records shall at all times be open for personal inspection of any citizen.

The state society also instructed the resolutions committee to prepare a resolution asking that the society intensify its fight for repeal of the state's Youth Court Act. The act is scheduled to become effective April 1, 1958.

The act would provide for special court treatment of defendants 16 through 20. Newspapers have objected to provisions for court secrecy.

Members of the society attending the annual summer meeting emphasized that the group should work for outright repeal, rather than modifications.

Benjamin H. Carroll of the White Plains Reporter-Dispatch chairman of the right-to - know committee, said that the state commission that drafted the act had "made overtures toward compromise" to ease some of the secrecy provisions. He said he saw no "lessening of intent by government to erect new and higher barriers," however.

Participating in a panel discussion on "the never-ending fight against secrecy," were: Clifford Carpenter, of the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle, Cy B. King of the Buffalo Courier - Express and Mason C. Taylor of the Utica Press.

The winter meeting will be held Jan. 26-28 at Elmira.

The membership chairman, Charles Wellner, Auburn Citizen-Advertiser, reported membership at a new high of 142.

Colorful Thief

FAIRMONT, Minn. (AP) — The stain of his crime was plain to see on a certain Fairmont teenager. Arnold Jahn, plagued by thefts of gasoline from a tank in his back yard, rigged up a homemade thief catcher. He fixed a small charge of explosive so when the hose was lifted from the tank it would go off, spraying the culprit with hard-to-remove dye. It worked, and not long afterward the sheriff's office arrested a teenage boy—brightly colored—for gasoline theft.

Drought Areas Are Relieved by Storms

By The Associated Press

Rain diminished in most of the northeastern part of the country today after the heaviest falls of the summer in some areas.

The heavy intermittent rains yesterday and last night brought some relief to drought-stricken areas. However, they were described by the weather bureau as not sufficient to end the drought which has caused extensive damage to crops this summer.

Falls up to 2 inches were reported in some areas, the heaviest in months. Amounts measured more than 1½ inches in the New York City area, Philadelphia and Baltimore. The wet belt extended from Maine to Florida.

More rain was in prospect during the day for most of the north Atlantic coast states.

They said it was only the sixth time he had carried the mail.

Woodhouse was ordered held for a federal grand jury in Rochester. He waived a preliminary hearing, and was released under $2,000 property bail.

Special Senate Election Tuesday

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A friend of President Eisenhower's, former Republican Gov. Walter Kohler, and liberal Democrat William Proxmire will meet in a special election tomorrow for the remainder of the U. S. Senate term of the late Joseph McCarthy.

Their extensive campaigns have failed to produce heated interest in the election which observers believe will be decided by less than 500,000 of the state's 2¼ million eligible voters.

The victor will serve the remaining 16 months in the term of McCarthy who died in Washington May 2 of a liver ailment. His controversial record has not entered into campaigning by major candidates in tomorrow's election and was only a minor issue in the primaries last month that nominated Proxmire and Kohler who are old opponents at the polls.

They have agreed on only one thing—that the election is important because it could determine the power lineup in the Senate.

Three independent candidates have entered the race. They are Mrs. Georgia Cozzini, a Milwaukee housewife; Douglas J. Wheaton, a 32-year-old steamfitter from Kaukauna, and Howard Boyle, a Milwaukee attorney.

The campaign efforts of all three have been limited and only Boyle was given a chance to become a factor in the balloting.

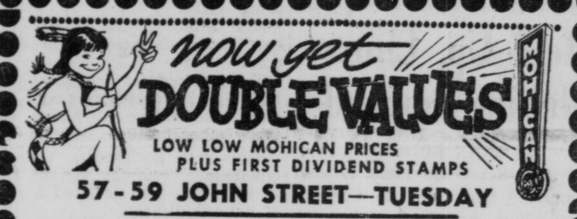

Polish Liner Visits Copenhagan, 70 Skip

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP)—Seventy of the Polish liner Batory's 800 passengers skipped ship when the vessel visited Copenhagen last week, it was disclosed today.

Previously it had been known that at least 30 had defected and asked political asylum in Denmark, but Danish authorities had refused to divulge the full total. The Batory's captain disclosed the extent of the mass defection in a telegram to Danish authorities.

Danish police in charge of alien matters said 60 of the skipping passengers have asked for political asylum and that six were being returned here from Sweden where they were picked up. He said Danish police had no information concerning the other four.

The Batory visited Copenhagen for two days on the first holiday tour allowed a Polish group since World War II.

BURSITIS

By Charles A. Weaver, D. C.

Bursitis is an inflamation of the joint capsule, a swelling of tissue from irritation. The irritation may be chemical (lack of joint fluid), over-fatigue, or external bruising. The fluid that normally lubricates the joint capsule becomes thickened and gritty. The joint will then become sore, painful to move, and in some cases stiffens.

In many cases, the early mild condition will clear up after a rest. However, when the condition continues, calcium deposits appear on the bony surfaces of the joint, causing Arthritis. Adhesions may also form in the capsule of the joint, causing a frozen joint. All of this disease process is understandable when we remember this is living tissue, a part of the body reacting to the causative factor.

Chiropractic care in most stages of this condition has been remarkably successful in relieving the patient's pain quickly. We have found a method of correcting the vast majority of cases. It is a poor risk to wait too long with this condition. We advise you not to be a fence sitter any longer. Take the proper care of that body of yours; you'll never have another!

Grand Council Is To Discuss Future Of Indian Colony

FORT HUNTER (AP)—The future of an Indian colony established beside Schoharie Creek near the State Thruway will be discussed Sept. 14 at a meeting of the Grand Council of the six nation Iroquois Confederacy.

The encampment is on land the Indians claim the white man grabbed illegally.

About a dozen Indians from the Onondaga reservation near Syracuse came here yesterday for a pow wow. Chief Standing Arrow, leader of the Fort Hunter group, announced afterward that the grand council would consider the case at the Tonawanda reservation, near Buffalo.

The 24 - year - old chief, also known as Francis Johnson, says about 100 Indians have joined his band. Most of them, he says, were forced from homes on the St. Regis and Caughnawaga reservations by St. Lawrence Seaway construction.

At the Caughnawaga reservation near Montreal, Standing Arrow declared last week that more than 2,000 Indians eventually might answer his call to move back to the Mohawk Valley, their home two centuries ago.

Standing Arrow and his followers claim that the land rightfully belongs to the Mohawks under a treaty signed in 1784.

Health for All

Mistaken Identity

Like the good citizen you are, when the chest X-ray bus came to town, you stepped up and had your annual chest picture taken. You felt perfectly well, but you had learned that people can have tuberculosis without knowing it.

You didn't feel so good when you got the report. You were advised to have another larger X-ray. Did that mean you had TB after all? You didn't waste any time getting to your doctor. It was tough waiting to find out what the big X-ray would show. And there was a shadow, all right. The doctor pointed it out on the film. You hit bottom. TB . . . a hospital . . . what about the family . . . the job?

"Now don't rush off," the doctor ordered. "We've a lot more things to find out before we decide. I'll tell you frankly it looks like TB, but it could be a case of mistaken identity."

You learned some new words. The doctor explained that there are at least 10 other conditions that can sometimes be confused with TB: pulmonary fibrosis, bronchiectasis, histoplasmosia, coccidioldomycosis — and some more names you couldn't pronounce, much less spell. You learned that skin tests, including a tuberculin test, serologic tests, biopsy, and more X-rays could be taken to find out for sure.

The doctor started by getting a history of places you had lived all your life. Some fungus diseases resembling TB on X-ray are prevalent in certain areas of the country, he explained. He might get a clue. And he did. The tests checked out.

You've since learned how to spell and pronounce histoplasmosis—your legacy from the middle west. You had a benign case—one that didn't bother you—some time ago. It cleared up, but left its shadow behind to give you a few bad moments of worry.

You learned quite a lot from the experience . . . a lot about modern scientific diagnosis, about fungus disease, about how it feels to face tuberculosis, and how good it feels to know for sure that you're healthy. You make a silent but solemn resolution to do everything possible to keep yourself that way.

Not Germ Warfare

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Leroy E. Burney, U. S. surgeon general, said today the presence of Asiatic flu in this country is not the start of germ warfare by the Communists.

"Is there any possibility that the Communists have planted these germs?" Burney was asked in a copyrighted interview in U. S. News & World Report, a weekly news magazine.

150 to Get Preview Of College Life

FREDONIA (AP) — One hundred fifty New York State high school seniors will get a preliminary taste of college life during the next five days at State University Teachers College here.

In an experiment designed to help prospective college students make the best possible use of their final college preparatory year, the teachers college has instituted a college preview program.

The program is set up so that students will live, eat, study, go to class and play in a college atmosphere.

The students have been selected by their high school guidance counsellors.

The experiment is designed to alleviate some problems many students encounter in adjusting to first-year college life, Fredonia officials said.

Shippers Appeal Order Closing O & W Railroad

SYRACUSE (AP) — A group of shippers say they have filed with the U. S. Supreme Court an appeal from the final order closing the defunct New York, Ontario and Western Railway.

Judge Sylvester J. Ryan of the U. S. District Court in New York City signed the final closing order July 24.

W. G. Shankenberry, attorney for the railroad trustee, and E. T. Curley, an attorney for the shippers, said Saturday they had filed the appeal papers.

Curley said the appeal was based on the law relating to interstate commerce as given in a recent Supreme Court decision.

That law, Curley said, stipulates that before any part of a railroad can be liquidated, the district court must seek an order of public convenience and necessity from the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The lawyers say the court failed to do that.

If the Supreme Court upholds their contention, the shippers said, they hope to have the closing order set aside and the entire system continued in operation under national defense laws.

Inventor Has 84th Birthday, Noted In Radio Field

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—This is the 84th birthday of Dr. Lee de Forest, the inventor who made radio broadcasting possible. His comment: "Now I'm shooting for 94."

The mere matter of years doesn't impress the man who paved the way for the electronic age by developing the three-element vacuum tube 51 years ago. Still physically active and young in spirit, he spends far more time investing then he does worrying about his age.

His only concessions to the advancing years are an elevator in his home and—due mainly to a recent, shortlived spell of heart trouble—an early bedtime.

He still works four afternoons a week in the research lab he maintains in downtown Hollywood. And he also has a workshop and study at home.

The holder of some 300 patents, he filed for a new one about a month ago and is preparing to apply for another. Both deal with television. The one already in is for a projection tube.

Fanous "firsts" credied to de Forest include the first wireless transmission over land (1904); the first broadcast (1907); the first use of radio knife in surgery (1907); the first feed-back, or oscillator circuit (1912); the first electromagnetic phonograph pickup (1916) and the first theatrical presentation of sound-on-film motion pictures (1916).

GUARDIANS OF THE LAW

The Board of Police Commissioners has authorized a six-day week for police department personnel to overcome a depletion of the force due to recent suspensions. The new schedule was deemed necessary until appointment of new regular and special patrolmen makes up for the loss of ten men due to the present investigation of the department. The department had been working on a five-day week basis.

Not all policemen have been heroes without blemish. But by and large, these men perform a service the value of which cannot be calculated. Down through the years members of the Kingston Police Department have performed a superb service and these faithful public servants deserve our thanks. All of us can sleep easier at night because these faithful guardians of the law will be on duty over a longer work week.

Policemen are often taken for granted, whether in a big city or small community. The policeman on the beat is merely another citizen going about his business. The difference, however, between the policemen and other citizens is that when emergency strikes they must spring into action despite all hazards.

When there is shooting, the ordinary citizen ducks for cover. The policeman must stand up to the lawbreaker and bring him to book.

This is dangerous work. The pay is not high, though the risks are great. Often it is thankless work. The rewards come mostly in the satisfaction of doing a hard, perilous job with bravery and skill.

Recently two cruising Minneapolis policemen gave chase to three men who were riding in a stolen car. When the men were trapped, they came out shooting. One policeman was killed and another was critically injured. Such incidents should serve to remind all of the great debt we owe the loyal men who wear the uniform of a policeman.

ENEMY ON THE HIGHWAY

This nation spends some $40 billion a year to maintain its military defenses, in the hope that another war and the toll of death, destruction and human misery that would follow can be prevented.

Yet, each year, the toll of death, destruction and human misery caused by highway accidents, of which the major cause is excessive speed, rivals the casualty lists of wars of the past fought with conventional weapons.

It is true, of course, that a nuclear war would undoubtedly produce casualty lists infinitely greater than those of conventionally-fought wars. It also looks as if there is a percentage of drivers who are hell-bent on sending the highway toll up to the potential nuclear-war level. These are the drivers who make race-tracks of public highways, though they have none of the rare special skills of the accomplished race-driver, and are at the wheels of cars which, whatever their other virtues, have none of the special characteristics of race-cars.

The speeder is as much a menace as an enemy soldier bent on our destruction.

RETURNING THE TOOLS

"He is a good neighbor who always returns tools in good shape." This compliment was paid to Robert Van Pelt, recently named a federal district judge for Nebraska. It came from a friend testifying before a Senate subcommittee hearing on Van Pelt's qualifications.

The argument is somewhat unconventional, and throws no light on the legal leaning or judicial temperament of the nominee. As far as it goes, however, it is one of the highest praises that a neighbor can give.

Who has not loaned a lawnmower, clippers, saw or other implement and had it returned muddy or rusty? And who has not also felt a warm glow of satisfaction when a good neighbor returned a borrowed tool in topnotch condition?

This is training that parents can give, though they seem to do so rather seldom. The state of mind that returns borrowed articles "in good shape" indicates the likely presence of other virtues.

CHANGING IDEAS

I know a man who once believed that he was worth $50,000,000. His accountants could prove it to him. When he invested here or there or spent great sums for this or that, there was no question but his signature on a check was good for millions. So he headed great corporations and cut quite a figure in the world.

Then conditions changed and he was no longer worth $50,000,000. Maybe only $10 or $15 millions. It became more difficult for the accountants to prove their point because the value of the equities fluctuated, depending too much on the kind of legislation that Congress passed.

However, there was plenty in the till and it hardly really makes much difference whether one has $5,000,000 or $50,000,000 because after 50, one has to live on a diet anyhow and the dames are too dull to bother about and household management has become fixed and dinner parties are too often boring—so one becomes a philosopher, reads learned books, takes up a hobby and works harder than ever. That is exactly what my friend did.

When he was very, very rich, so that men spoke his name in awe, he seemed always to be worried lest he lose his money. He got ulcers and coronaries and all the troubles that come to those who work hard and accumulate much and who have never learned how to relax and to trust to God, but now that the fortune, which his auditors had calculated, is no longer of such vast dimensions and may grow very much smaller until it can only provide a middle-class competence, there is nothing to worry about. All the worrying has been completed and it has changed nothing.

Also, he noticed that when he was on the upgrade, clever people attached themselves to him, like fungi, with the object of being put on the payroll of his enormous holdings. The clever people, public relations counsel, industrial relations counsel, etc., etc., always find rich men whom they can advise because the rich men, particularly those who are what one calls self-made, are shy and a little frightened and in search of advice. So they hire it. Sometimes they get their money's worth and sometimes they get involved in all sorts of intrigues. The raiders have found it advantageous to deal with these brilliant minds who talk a lot; tell secrets out of school and play both ends to their own advantage. Out of that the brilliant ones earn a fairly good living.

If they cannot attach themselves to millionaires, there is always a foreign government to provide an expense account, or some foreigners who are looking at American industries to take them over, or even some who want to get back what was confiscated during the war.

There is always a dollar to be made out of other people's problems and it is surprisng to see how these various counsels run all over the Earth giving advice. One sometimes wonders, why, if these counsels are so smart, they do not do something constructive themselves.

The capitalist system thrives only on initiative, ingenuity, competence and a profound sense of personal integrity (credit) and managerial capacity. When the capitalist system becames bureaucratic, it always stultifies itself and ceases to be useful. When there is actually no difference between a foreman who gets $7,500 a year and a vice president who gets $12,000 a year, except the white collar and imitation Brooks Brothers suit, the process of proletarization has set in. When I say "no difference," I mean that the additional income, after taxes and after the High Cost of Living, brings them closer together in advantages and opportunities.

Surely personal integrity becomes less important when it is obvious that those who engage in marginal economic activities such as raiding, trading through Switzerland or other depositories of hidden capital are getting most of the material benefits of an inflationary period. Also the hopes of the small businessmen are shattered by tight credit, cartelization (called amalgamations and mergers) and the trend toward monopoly. So why does one worry about how much money he has when the real problem is to find personal contentment and sufficient peace of mind to survive these troubled times?

As my friend said: "What does a million more or less mean if you can sleep nights?"

Contaminated Pork Infects 350,000 in U. S. Annually

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

Not long ago L. B. asked several questions in connection with the disease known as trichinosis.

First, she asks, "Is bacon treated or cured in any way before reaching the consumer to destroy trichinae?"

I believe the answer is that it usually is not treated in a manner which will always destroy all parasites, if any are present. Federal meat inspectors require that all meats containing pork which are eaten without further cooking shall be treated by heating, freezing or drying in order to kill trichinae. Of course, bacon is not eaten raw and trichinae, if present, are as a rule killed by complete cooking.

L. B. also wants to know whether she is correct in assuming smoking of pork does not destroy this parasite. She is correct. The parasites are destroyed only by satisfactory heating, freezing or drying and by a method of "gamma irradiation."

TRICHINOSIS is an important health problem. The disease is caused by a tiny animal parasite known as trichinella spiralis. It has been estimated that about 25 million inhabitants of the United States alone harbor the parasite. Each year about 350,000 persons acquire new infections.

Apparently most of those who become infected do not show any symptoms. Only about 16,000 persons each year are expected to take enough of the parasites into their systems to cause obvoius trouble. Of those who do develop symptoms, about one in 20 may die.

The parasites usually enter the human body in contaminated pork or pork products. When live trichinae are swallowed in this manner they pass through the wall of the intestines and are carried to the muscles in various parts of the body. Whether symptoms will be produced depends on the number of parasites.

NAUSEA, vomiting and watery diarrhea are common symptoms. Sometimes abdominal pain is present. The worms develop in the intestines, and about the ninth or 10th day begin to invade the muscles.

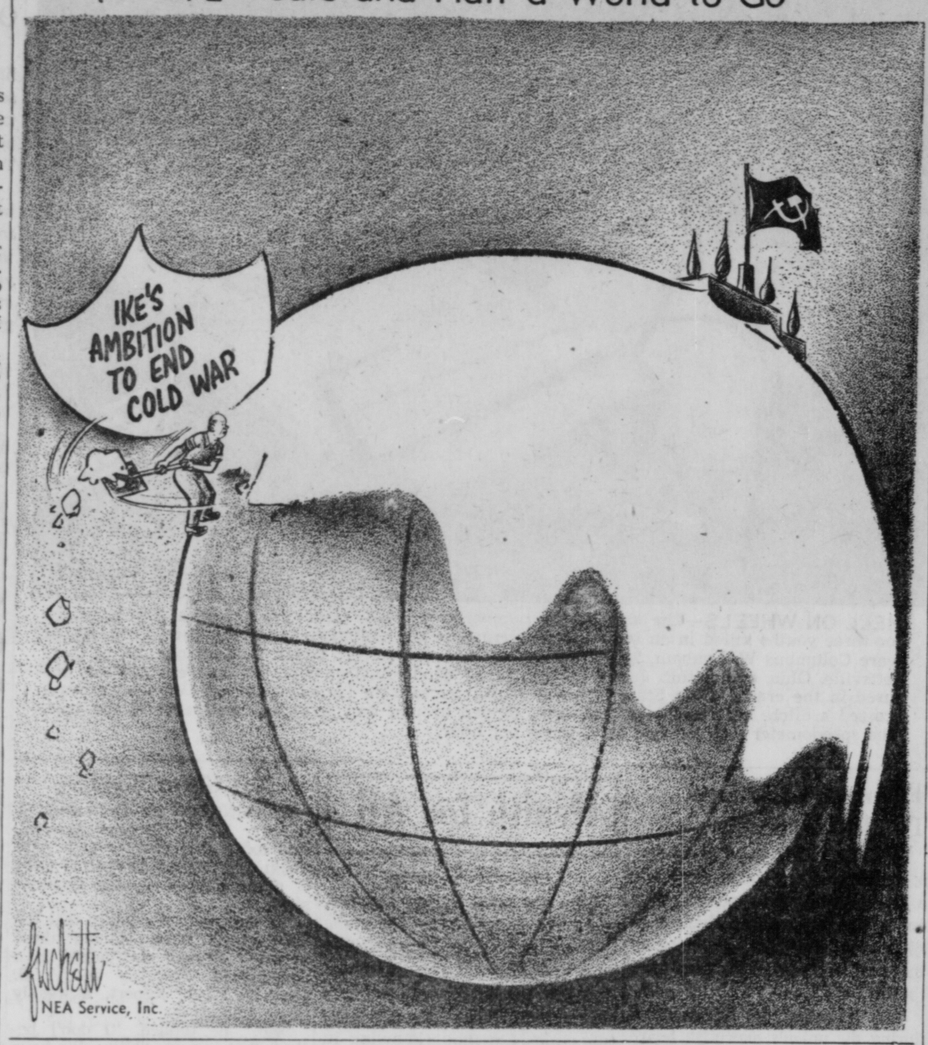

Again, if they are present in large enough numbers, they may produce tenderness of the muscles, especially in the arms and legs. Sometimes a reddish rash occurs on the skin. Fever may be present. Puffiness and swelling of the face, especially around the eyes, is common.

IN MILD cases the symptoms may last for only 10 or 12 days. In severe ones they may be present for six or eight weeks.

Improvements in methods of feeding hogs and in inspecting carcasses are important. Considerable work is being done on pork disposal or treatment of garbage eaten by hogs so that trichinae will be destroyed.

Pork and pork products should be thoroughly cooked before eating. This will destroy the trichinae if present. Freezing the meat at 5 degrees F. for 20 days also will kill the parasites.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — During a recess in the hall outside the Senate hearing room where a parade of racketeers and union officials was being grilled, a group of youngsters stared one of the witnesses with great curiosity. They saw the man fumbling in his inside coat pocket and one of the kids walked up to him and asked, "whatcha looking for, mister?"

"Why, my rod, of course," the man replied, "I'm going to shoot the place up."

The kids raced out of the building in terror.

What the man was fumbling for, of course, was his typewritten Fifth Amendment statement.

OTHER DAY the government boss of a stenographers' pool noticed that the afternoon production of his gals was dropping off sharply. It took him a week to solve the problem. His girls were taking their lunch hour to go to a nearby dance studio for lessons in the cha-cha-cha. They came back to work all tired out.

He held a conference with them and they agreed to shift the lessons to the evening.

The cha-cha-cha has become the favorite dance among the embassy set, too. Maj. Kyong Eup Kim, Korean assistant military attache, is the recognized cha-cha-cha champ, by the way.

IN CASE YOU WONDERED why the Senate rushed through the confirmation of new Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy, here's the reason:

The publisher of "The Social List of Washington, D. C.," Mrs. Carolyn Hagner Shaw, was about to go to press with her new edition. So the Senate Armed Services Committee courteously made his appointment legal so that Mrs. Shaw could include McElroy's name in the book.

THE KOREAN EMBASSY threw a big reception celebrating its independence day. The usually delicious turkeys, hams, cold beef tenderloin slices, shrimp, caviar, iced melon balls, chicken, potato salad, stuffed eggs, cold lamb and ice cream were served.

But when the last invited guest left, members of the staff were treated to a special dinner featuring kimchi, the famous Korean dish.

SYUD AHMED, Pakistan press attache, showed up at a cocktail party recently sporting an outrageously gaudy necktie.

He apologized by saying a classy downtown men's clothing store was using his expensive collection of dark silk ties as a display.

This is what really happened: Friends who gave him the flashy piece of neckwear for his birthday had hidden his other ties so he would have to wear it.

FOR WEEKS Sen. Harry Byrd (D-Va.) has been trying to get Congress to recess so he could go on a month's mountain-climbing expedition in the Rockies.

Now he says he's cutting the trip short because he's got to get back home to take care of his apple orchard. Fellow senators are kidding that he got cold feet when he read about the three mountain climbers who were recently lost in the Alps.

REPORT ON THE NATION'S ever-alert Pentagon defenders: The day after the President announced that Neil McElroy would be the new secretary of defense, the soap in the washroom off the secretary's office was switched from Lux, a product of Lever Bros., to Camay, a product of Procter & Gamble.

Congress Seen as Taking States' Role on Rights

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26 — This may turn out to be the week that future historians will call "the week of infamy" in American history. For this is the week in which an intolerant majority in Congress is to take away one of the most important rights given to the states by the Constitution.

In fact the Federal government now is to become the policeman authorized by a law — in disregard of the Constitution — to arrest and put in jail not only those local officials of the states who seek to obey the voting procedures as set forth in their state laws but those individuals who allegedly influence improperly the votes of other persons.

Great Liberal

Nearly twenty years ago the late William E. Borah of Idaho, a great progressive and perhaps the greatest of the "liberals" of this century — a man who first achieved fame as a lawyer for organized labor and who recently was named as one of the fifteen deserving honorable mention for the hall of fame of the United States Senate — made a historic speech when the same basic principle now at stake in "civil rights" legislation was up for debate in connection with an anti-lynching bill. He said to the Senate:

"I make no contention but that the Fourteenth Amendment has forever placed it beyond the power of any state to deny any person the equal protection of the laws, or to deprive any person of life, liberty, or property without due process. I recognize also the state acts and speaks through its officers, legislative, judicial, and executive. I am not going to take refuge in technicalities, but I contend for what I believe to be a fundamental principle, and that is that while you may call a state thus acting and thus speaking to account, you cannot take jurisdiction over a deal with acts and deeds not done by the authority and by the direction of the state. It must at all times be state action.

States' Authority

"You cannot deal with acts under the Fourteenth Amendment not done by and under the authority and direction of the state. The derelection of an officer in violation of the laws of the state, in disregard of the sworn duty exacted of him by the state, and subject to punishment by the laws of the state, cannot by any possible construction, either in law or in conscience be the act of the state.

"To establish any such principle would be to undermine and break down the integrity of every state in the union. If a state may not be entrusted exclusively with the authority and relied upon to exercise the authority to punish those who violate its own laws, public or private persons, then there is no such thing as local government, because the state is deprived of the very instrumentality by which it maintained state integrity."

Aimed at Officials

The new "civil rights" legislation is aimed at local officials who in spite of state laws which say to them that they must not discriminate nevertheless are alleged to be denying Negroes the vote. It is aimed also at any individual who exercises any influence that can be described by the words "intimidate, threaten, coerce," or "attempts to coerce," in voting.

But who is to say that in the many heated discussions between individuals during modern campaigns, the influence actively exerted by precinct workers for labor unions or by employers or by committees formed by other groups, including church organizations, is not an attempt sometimes "to coerce" by "causing" a person to vote for one candidate as against another?

U. S. Can Move In

For now the Federal government through a special division in the Department of Justice, created by the proposed law, can move in and investigate the political organizations in New York City, the acts of its workers on Election Day, or the activities—prior to as well as after an election—carried on by any political bosses or organizations in Chicago or Detroit or any of the other big cities throughout the country. These have always been obligations of state law enforcement.

What the new "civil rights" bill amounts to is a Federal license to penetrate any local political organization to determine whether or not it is keeping within the bounds set by the party in power in Washington or by the Federal judges who, without a jury trial, can inflict a forty-five-day jail penalty for "coercion." There is to be no assurance, either, of a jury trial. Only if the penalty given at the trial by the judge is beyond forty-five-days' imprisonment is a jury trial to be required when a defendant requests it. No citizen will want the stigma of a penalty—to be put on his record as a citizen. So the threat to punish unless the Federal policeman is obeyed will probably be effective.

Thus are rights of the states taken away "under color of law" which really means under the totalitarian doctrine that "the end justifies the means." It's a sad chapter in American history—a turn back to the tragic years of the "reconstruction era" and to the reactionary concept that an intolerant majority can at any time ignore the Constitutional rights of the states.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK, Aug. 19—The day after Dave Dubinsky's pious denial was printed, disclaiming any truck with Johnny Dio, in an affidavit filed with the Senate committee, I met him in the lobby of the Drake in Chicago and we had quite a party. A lot of leeches of the executive committee of the AFL-CIO stood around gaping and one of the Bell-men, an old friend from the happy days of the big fight and prohibition, stepped up at the conclusion and said: "Brother, I wish I had the movie rights to that one—with sound."

Dave made the pass. He threw me a nod and when I stopped he said, "How long ago did you learn that Dio was a hoodlum?"

I said I couldn't say as to that, but, anyway, why? What was the point? Dave did a couple of laps around Robin Hood's barn and finally said that even if he had known Dio back in 1950, as a witness had charged before the Senate committee the day before, that would not prove toleration of a crook. Dave said he did not learn that Dio was a gangster until later. I said I couldn't be sure about that because he had access to information which I and others haven't.

"And, anyway," I said, "don't tell me that you are always quick to throw hoodlums out of your racket because I know you had a report on your desk for about two years which absolutely wrapped up your pal Sam Berger as a gangster, but you didn't even make a swipe at the louse until a few weeks ago and then only because he took the fifth amendment."

I said: "You knew Berger and Dio were close friends and had business relations and this report even told you how many suits of clothes and pairs of pastel-colored slacks Berger was buying and just exactly where and the prices, and don't try to tell me you didn't because I know you did."

This is not verbatim on either side, you understand, but a fair presentation from memory. You see, Dave has been peering down his snoot at other boss unioneers who make traffic with criminals and this Dio had been nailed as one of the mob who blinded Dave's intimate personal friend and political devotee, Victor Riesel, and, moreover, just 24 hours before, in that same lobby, I had slapped into his fat, chubby fist a whole page of single-space on the criminal record of his fabulous martyr, William Lurye, who got a grand political demonstration, old-world style, at his funeral in New York in 1949.

Luyre was hacked dead in a phone booth and Dubinsky uttered squawks of outrage and the union ordered out 65,000 workers, without pay, for a half-holiday, which, naturally, turned into a whole day off, without pay. In New York you can't hustle back to your job in the Bronx or Coney Island in time to hit any licks after a political rally downtown. In Europe, both the Reds and the Nazi-Fascists practiced that trick. It is called the spontaneous demonstration. Dubinsky got a rousing hand from a dumb phase of journalism which did not bother to ascertain whether Lurye was a martyr to a cause or just another dead hoodlum.

But now I had verified Lurye's criminal career including one life-term, marked down to two years plus, and one pinch for maintaining a disorderly house, which, be it said, apparently was not a house of prostitution however. He was turned loose on that one.

As if by instinct, the instant I gave Dave this paper he let out a holler that the guy meant nothing to him. Lurye was just a picket employed by one of his locals. It disturbs Dave to be caught in such flagrancies.

As we broke off, I offered my hand and Dave put on a fumble. That made me a little peevish so I said, "Dave, I don't give a dam whether you take my hand or not. It is just a civilized formality, not an expression of friendship, so if you don't want to that suits me, fine." So we sort of waved and I went down to the public library to dig out the text of Dave's own tribute to his noble friend, Lurye, the day after he was killed.

Still on the topic of the Lurye tribe I wish to revise a line a few days back referring to the grand eulogy of Willie Lurye which the Reader's Digest published last January. My account of the eulogy said Max Lurye, Will's father, died of remorse because he exhorted his son to desert his moral duty on the picket line. Actually, the Digest said Max urged Willie to stick it out and died of heartbreak because his kid perished at his post. The police thought rival gangsters killed Will as the operator of a rival racket. He was doublecrossing Dubinsky by letting hot cargo through his picket lines at so much per garment.

Senate Will Pass Bill to Protect Secret FBI Files

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) said the Senate will pass late today or tonight a bill making it clear that secret files of the FBI and other government agencies "are not open for fishing expeditions."

At the same time, O'Mahoney said in an interview, the legislation will retain the Supreme Court's basic theory that an individual facing criminal prosecution has the right to inspect FBI and other files pertaining to a government witness' testimony against him.

Both the Senate and House Judiciary Committees have approved bills designed to limit the scope of a controversial court ruling in the case of Clinton E. Jencks, a former union official convicted of falsely swearing he was not a Communist.

The court held June 3 that Jencks had a right to examine FBI files containing material furnished by government witnesses who testified against him, in an effort to impeach their testimony. The high court ordered a new trial for Jencks.

Decisions Conflict

Since then several lower federal courts have ordered government agencies to open their confidential files or dismiss criminal charges. There are conflicts among these decisions.

Atty. Gen. Brownell, FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover and other top administration officials have been pushing Congress to enact clarifying legislation before it adjourns.

Pending now in the Senate is a bill drafted by Brownell and since completely rewritten by O'Mahoney and the Senate Judiciary Committee. The newest version brings most parties to the dispute into near agreement.

Similar House Action

If the Senate passes the bill as it now stands, O'Mahoney said he expects similar House action.

Brownell has contended that the Jencks decision caused a "grave emergency in law enforcement." He said it might permit defendants or their lawyers to rummage through confidential files.

Brownell said this might reveal government law enforcement methods, damage the reputations of innocent persons and violate agreements among federal agencies and with friendly governments against disclosing sources of confidential information.

Six Are Injured In City Accidents

Five persons were injured in three city traffic mishaps over the weekend and another was hurt in a two-car collision early today.

Sheryl White, 8 of 379 Roosevelt Avenue, and Anne Marie Calabrese, 5, of 443 Jauncey Avenue, both of Lyndhurst, N. J., were injured in an accident reported at 7:50 p. m., Saturday on Washington near Hurley Avenue. The former reported an injured right leg and the latter a stomach injury.

Police said they were riding in a car, owned and operated by Frank Calabrese, 37, of 443 Jauncey Avenue, Lyndhurst, which stopped for a light as it was headed west on Washington Avenue and was struck by the sedan of Marianne Humbel of Lake Delaware, Delhi, and driven by Edwin Humbel, 20, of the same place.

Dora V. Bittner, 33, and Grace Banker, 56, both of Kings Highway, Bridgeport, Conn., were reported injured in a two-car mishap at East Chester Street and Flatbush Avenue at 10:50 p. m., Sunday.

They were riding in a car, owned and operated by George Bittner, 40, of 102 Park avenue, Bridgeport, headed north on East Chester street. Extent of their injuries was not reported.

The other car, owned and operated by C. J. Lamb, 26, of 20 Blodgett avenue, Pawtucket, R. I., was also headed north on East Chester Street.

Child Finds $8,000 In Counterfeit Bills

ALBANY (AP)—Susan Gardner, 8, found four packages with counterfeit bills totaling $8,000 in the back yard of their home in suburban Newtonville yesterday.

Her father, Carl Gardner, called the FBI when she told him to "Look at this play money." The FBI referred the case to the Secret Service and the Colonie town police.

"They looked counterfeit to me," Gardner said. "The green ink didn't seem the right color. Neither did Jackson's hair. The same serial number was on each bill."

Police and secret servicemen have been seeking a man who passed eight phony $20 bills in the Albany area Aug. 17.

100,000 Gather To Get Answer On Critical World

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — An estimated 75,000 to 100,000 persons joined in a massive outdoor service yesterday to hear world Lutheranism's answer to the challenges of a dramatically portrayed "critical world."

The crowd nearly filled the Minnesota state capitol's sprawling approaches for the final event of the Lutheran World Federation's third assembly. The gathering was described as the largest in the history of American Lutheranism.

A novel dramatic device, likened by a federation spokesman to the ancient morality plays, took the audience through a succession of "challenges" to the church sounded by a voice off-platform.

Preceded by a fanfare of trumpets, the voice called on the church to explain its faith in the assembly theme "Christ frees and unites."

The answers were followed by hymns and prayers in which the crowd joined.

Freedom, unity of the church, reforming the church, service and more for the future were themes on which the challenges were based.

Atlantic Allies Must Sacrifice to Meet Red Threat

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles says the United States and its Atlantic Pact allies must continue to make sacrifices to meet the threat of an intensive Russian military buildup.

This means maintaining military units in Europe and contributing new weapons to North Atlantic Treaty menbers, Dulles said.

He made the filmed statement for a new series of television programs dealing with the Atlantic alliance (ABC College News Conference). It was released yesterday.

The secretary said a second basic reason for NATO is that "we everywhere must try to develop the unity and the dynamism of the free world. It is not enough just to be militarily secure. . .We must be certain that freedom continues to exert an influence in the world because it produces so much for human good. . ."

Dulles said the present NATO structure provides "an effective force in being." But he added:

"We still have some serious problems: The shield of these forces is not yet sufficiently strong; an integrated air defense warning system is only today in process of being constructed, and we face the problem of equipping all of the NATO forces with advanced defensive weapons."

Plans to raise $40,000,000 in new capital through sale of debentures and common stock have been announced by Lehigh Portland Cement Corp. with a large plant at Alsen, Greene county.

Funds from the sale will be directed toward payment of a $25,000,000 bank term loan incurred during the recent Lehigh expansion.

Public Offering

Lehigh proposes to make a public offering of $30,000,000 in debentures and to offer its shareholders the right to purchase $380,312 worth of shares of new common stock on the basis of one new share for each 10 shares held.

Since World War 2, the company has invested $134,000,000 in capital improvements and replacements. It is proposed to expand this outlay to $161,000,000 by the end of next year.

The bacteriologist at Eli Lilly and Company, Indianapolis, Ind., injects embryonated eggs with the Asian virus as part of the development program to produce a new vaccine. The eggs provide a natural media for growing the virus strain. The virus was isolated by U.S. Army medical teams early in the Far East epidemic and shipped to this country for study. Six pharmaceutical houses began work on a vaccine in May.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—Selected issues erased early losses, arresting an initial stock market decline and leaving prices irregular early this afternoon.

Turnover became somewhat brisker as prices improved, putting the rate of turnover higher than on Friday when the market took a beating on volume of 1,960,000 shares.

The market was lower at the opening although a few stocks bucked the trend. More gainers appeared gradually, giving most major divisions a mixed appearance.

Steels were off at the start despite reports that the automotive industry is beginning to order steel for the 1958 models. In later dealings most of the major steels switched to the upside but some of these stocks failed to hold their gains.

Coppers, after early weakness, firmed despite continued reports of softer prices and slack demand for that and other nonferrous metals.

The broadcast did not say specifically no visas would be issued until the State Department changed its stand, but that appeared to be its implication. However, one correspondent said Red Chinese Premier Chou En-Lai on two occasions promised to grant him vias as soon as his passport was changed.

SPURS TO THRIFT AND SAVING

Tight money has given thrift, saving and investment a shot in the arm. It is creating situations that are leading thousands of persons to change their mode of living and to reinvest their dollars.

A widow in New York City who normally carries $10,000 in her checking account has decided to deposit $8,000 in a savings bank that pays 3¼ per cent a year. This added income of $260 annually will pay her Borden milk and cream bill and her Consolidated Edison of New York gas and electricity charges.

A retired textile officer who had substantial balances in the savings department of two commercial banks paying 3 per cent a year has just deposited $40,000 of this money in four New York City savings banks that pay ¼ of 1 per cent more. The increased earnings amount to only $100 annually, but it goes to show how higher income causes investors to move.

People Again Interested

And many people who threw thrift and savings out of the window when basic interest rates were completely out of tune with living costs are beginning to cultivate sound economic habits again. It is my opinion that if savings banks' deposit rates continue at 3 and 3¼ per cent a year, great impetus will come into the savings movement.

My mail is heavy with requests for sound securities paying, with a minimum of risk, from 4 to 5 per cent annually. I shall mention a few here.

No preferred stock in the world has higher quality than the $6 stock of Eastman Kodak. Last year it earned $1,527 a share. Thus the annual dividend was covered 254 times over. As I write this, it is selling at $149 a share to yield more than 4 per cent. This stock is noncallable.

General Motors has outstanding a $3.75 preferred stock. It is callable at $103 a share to Nov. 1, 1961. During 1956 it earned $298 a share and dividends were covered 79 times. Tight money has forced the price of this prime stock down about $20 a share under call price. For investors requiring high security and an assured future income of 4.5 per cent, this is an interesting vehicle.

Steel Stock

Bethlehem Steel, the world's second largest steel enterprise, has outstanding a $7 noncallable preferred stock. Last year it earned $172 a share with dividends being covered 24 times. This good stock is selling to yield about 4.8 per cent.

Du Pont's $4.50 preferred is callable at $120 a share. It can be bought at about $100, thus affording a yield of around 4½ per cent. Last year it earned dividend requirements by 35 times—$160 a share.

Now these four excellent stocks are listed on the world's leading securities market — the New York Stock Exchange. Holders of these shares receive dividend checks from banks acting as distributing agents for these corporations.

And if, during 1958-1960, money gets a little cheaper, all of these stocks could advance sharply in price.

I think that tight money is about as tight as it will get.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Countless Americans harbor what they think are money-making ideas.

Many corporations in tight competitive races might be able to use outside suggestions.

The problem is to get the inventor and the producer and financier together without contusions and abrasions.

Strong Fears

Inventors have some strong fears about theft or double dealing by corporations. Some suspect that ideas are suppressed to protect present products.

Companies have had their fingers burned enough by law suits to be aware of the risks of dealing with outside ideas, especially if unsolicited.

But men dealing with patents contend that the examples of losses on either side, payable in the courts, have been small compared with the gains to both inventors and corporations, especially in the fields of products for public consumption.

Corporation executives contend that from 200 to 500 ideas submitted must be examined to find one that is worthwhile. They point out that a $25 preliminary patent search by the inventor saves everybody time and money.

Submit Agreement

George S. Hastings, American Machine & Foundry vice president in charge of its patent department, says many companies now insist upon a submit agreement. This states that the invention isn't being submitted in confidence and that the corporation doesn't agree in advance to compensate the inventor.

A payment agreement is something that many an outsider with ideas has asked because he fears that when the corporation knows his secret he's lost his bargaining power.

Inventor's Fears

The inventor's greatest fears probably are that the corporation will use his idea without pay or that it will buy the idea but never bring the product out.

He gives some pointers to inventors about what companies look for in a new product.

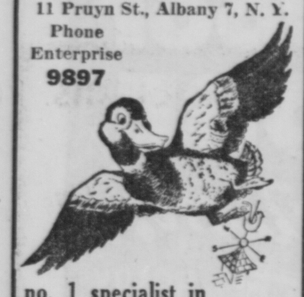

It should fit into the company's existing facilities for production, engineering and marketing. At the outset, its probable selling price must be substantially in excess of cost of manufacturing.

Bare ideas aren't enough. The inventor should take into consideration the product's customer appeal and its commercial practicality should be proven. The cost and amount of materials or mechanism to be employed weigh heavily in the decision.

The invention should have sufficient patent protection to prevent others from copying it later.

That a giraffe has no more bones in its neck than a sparrow.

That the letters of the word "tip" originally stood for "to insure promptness" . . . but many people today give tips to waiters "to insure protection" against insults.

The Mature Parent

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

How Child Learns Difference Between 'Good' and 'Bad'

(Mrs. Muriel Lawrence is on vacation. In her absence, noted psychiatrist Eric Fromm discusses six frequently asked questions on child-parent relationship. His answers are condensed from his book, "Man For Himself," published by Rinehart and Co.)

Q. How does a child learn the difference between "good" and "bad"?

A. The foundations of our ability to differentiate between good and evil are laid in child hood; first with regard to physiological functions and then with regard to more complex matters of behavior.

The child acquires a sense of distinguishing between good and bad before he learns the difference by reasoning. His value judgments are formed as a result of the friendly or unfriendly reactions of the significant people in his life.

In view of his complete dependence on the care and love of the adult, it is not surprising that an approving or disapproving expression on the mother's face is sufficient to "teach" the child the difference between good and bad.

In school and in society similar factors operate. "Good" is that for which one is praised; "bad," that for which one is frowned upon or punished by social authorities or by the majority of one's fellow men. This intense emotional pressure prevents the child, and later the adult, from asking critically whether "good" in a judgment means good for him or for the authority.

The alternatives in this respect become obvious if we consider value judgments with reference to things. If I say that one car is "better" than another, it is self-evident that one car is called "better because it serves me better than another car.

A thing is called good if it is good for the person who uses it.

With reference to man, the same criterion of value can be used. The employer considers an employe to be good if he is of advantage to him. The teacher may call a pupil good if he is obedient, does not cause trouble, and is a credit to him.

In much the same way a child may be called good if he is docile and obedient. The "good" child may be frightened, and insecure, wanting only to please his parents by submitting to their will, while the "bad" child may have a will of his own and genuine interests but one which do not please his parents.

"My baby's life was in her hands."

"I stepped out of my laundry room for a few seconds, leaving my little son alone. Suddenly he screamed. I rushed back and found him collapsed on the floor — an open bottle of bleach beside him. I grabbed him and ran to the telephone. I was so panic-stricken I could hardly tell the operator what had happened. But she was wonderful — so calm and efficient. She called a doctor, then an ambulance — even notified the hospital so they were ready for us. Today my son is active and healthy, thanks to the telephone and a quick-thinking operator."

New Highway Opens Ahead of Schedule

SCHUYLERVILLE (AP)—The new 10-mile, $2,200,000 Bemis Heights-Schuylerville Highway was opened today, four months ahead of schedule.

Speaking at dedication ceremonies in this Saratoga County community, Gov. Harriman said in a prepared speech the state government was pushing its program of building highway rest areas.

He said modernization of neglected highways eliminated many hazardous road conditions but created a new problem — driver relaxation, which causes weary motorists to become drowsy. He said it was important to provide frequent rest areas for motorists.

The Bemis Heights-Schuylerville project includes a 330 - foot bridge across Fish Creek here.

Shokan

SHOKAN, Mrs. James Carpenter, formerly a summer resident of many years standing, spent Tuesday with her relatives, the Patrick Kelly family. Mrs. Carpenter and her husband make their home in Richmond Hill, L. I.

Town of Rochester people calling in the hub of the reservoir country Thursday included the Rev. George Wood, pastor of the Accord and North Marbletown Reformed Churches. Dominie Wood is a grandson of Abram Wood, Kingston bottler

Louise Incantuplo of Long Island City was a Shokan caller recently in the course of a visit at the Alfred Iapoce home in Ashokan.

Joshua Bell, local old timer, was well acquainted as a boy with Frank L. Shaw, Kingston resident who died August 18. The two lads used to plant corn for Lemuel Boice whose farm lay adjacent to the home of James and Jane Hill Shaw, grandparents of Frank, along the Sand Hill Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Hozza and daughter of Whitfield Road, near Accord, were callers here Sunday. Their old stone house in the hills was owned in early days by Lucas Krom who had a gristmill in that section.

Birthdays falling August 27 include that of Elizabeth Cox, Kingston, who is a frequent visitor to the Cox family farm along the Ashokan mountain road.

Stopping at the local museum Friday were Mr. and Mrs. George E. Neeley of Valparaiso, Ind., and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pivarnik of South Bend, Ind. They had a motor boat in tow and were making a leisurely return to the Hoosier State following a sojourn at Cape Cod.

Defense Leads Wrong Suit

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Today's hand, sent me by Mrs. Wilma Hass of West Englewood, N. J., illustrates several interesting points of bidding and play.

West held a sound opening bid and North's aggressive bidding put his partner in a slam contract which would have been a laydown if suits had broken nicely.

West was too smart to double. He did not expect to set the hand more than one trick and he knew that a double would be bad percentage. He wasn't quite so smart in his choice of an opening lead. If he had put his hand on a spade, club or trump he would have set the hand, but he chose to lead the ace of diamonds.

West shifted to a small trump. South won in dummy and saw that he could handle a four-one break in either clubs or hearts but not in both. He played a second trump and found that trumps would break three-two. His next play was to lead the king of diamonds and discard one of his clubs. The ace of clubs was led and a small club ruffed. He reentered dummy with its remaining trump. All cards in dummy were good except for the small diamond, but South had one trump left for it.

After the diamond opening South would also have made his contract against a spade continuation. He would have ruffed in dummy, trumped a low diamond, ruffed a second spade, led a trump and overtaken in his own hand. Three trump leads would have allowed three club discards, whereupon dummy would have been good.

Home on Leave

Two local seaman apprentices, who have finished nine weeks of recruit training at the U. S. Naval Training Center, Bainbridge, Md., are home for a 14-day leave with their parents.

Thomas J. Heybruck (left) is visiting his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Heybruck Jr., 139 Highland Avenue. He is a Kingston High School graduate, class of 1956.

Charles F. Fatum Jr. is spending his leave with his mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Black, 28 Lawrenceville Street. He attended Kingston High School.

The Navy Recruiting Station, Room 209, Central Post Office, said that they will report at different stations after their leaves.

Heybruck will go to the Navy's electronics school, Great Lakes, Ill. He enlisted under the provisions of the high school graduate training program and qualified for the nuclear propulsion program.

On graduation from the electronics course, he will go to the submarine base, New London, Conn., for submarine training. Next will be the nuclear propulsion school at Arco, Idaho.

Fatum will report to radar school at Norfolk, Va., after his leave is up.

Williford Renamed To Trustee Board

ALBANY (AP)—E. Allen Williford of Binghamton, president of Link Aviation Inc., was reappointed by Gov. Harriman today to the board of trustees of the Broome County Technical Institute.

The governor also named John V. O'Connell of Yorkstown Heights, prominent Westchester County automobile dealer, to the Taconic State Park Commission.

Both posts are unsalaried.

Williford was designated for a full, nine-year term.

O'Connell was appointed to succeed Montgomery B. Angell of Garrison, whose term has expired. Presumably, O'Connell will be nominated for the full term—running through January, 1962—when his name is submitted next winter to the state Senate for confirmation. He may serve on the commission meanwhile.

Rail Worker Held For Attack At Utica

UTICA (AP)—State police yesterday arrested James Moore, 40, on a charge of first-degree rape in connection with an attack on housewife in Westmoreland.

Mrs. Harriet O'Neil, 28, of Westmoreland, reported that she was attacked in her home Saturday by a Negro man who came to the door asking for a glass of water.

Moore waived examination at arraignment before a peace justice and was ordered held for grand jury action.

Whites in South Suffer Defeat In Rights Fight

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negroes and the supporters of civil rights have won a clear cut victory. Southern Whites have suffered a definite defeat.

This is clear after an analysis of the compromise Civil Rights Bill which is expected to be passed by Congress this week.

The bill calls for a commission to investigate all kinds of civil rights violations. The commission would have no powers to act against such violations, as the attorney general could have done under the knocked-out part of the bill. But it could expose.

For example: The commission could investigate the Ku Klux Klan and the White Citizens Councils set up in the South to resist public school integration and integration in general.

The more the commission may reveal — particularly about harassment of Negroes — the more could be the pressure for more legislation. And the commission would have power to hold hearings anywhere in the South.

Because it could issue subpoenas, it could force witnesses to appear and testify.

Under the bill, the attorney general could ask a federal judge for a court order to stop a voting rights violation. Again, there would be exposure. For once a judge issues such an order, he would hold a public hearing to bring out the facts in the case.

And the bill leaves untouched the judge's traditional power to try and jail — without a jury — anyone in civil contempt of courts for disobeying his order.

Action against a person for civil contempt is intended to make him comply while there is still time for him to do so. Criminal contempt action is taken when it is too late to comply and is aimed at punishment for flouting an order.

But a court order can cover a broad field. For example: If a judge ordered a registrar of voters not to interfere with would-be Negro, voters, the judge would probably make the order binding on all others, too.

Thus, a whole community could be ordered not to interfere. If the registrar complies, but others don't, they could be tried by the judge without a jury for civil contempt.

If it was too late for compliance and the judge wanted to try them for criminal contempt, he could do so, provided he did not impose a sentence of more than 45 days in jail and a fine of $300.

If he wanted them to face a peanlty greater than that, he would have to let them have a jury trial. If convicted by a jury, the maximum penalty for criminal contempt under the bill would be a $1,000 fine and six months in jail.

Conversation

By FRANK TRIPP

I knew that I had to see him, so searched my brain for a sunny greeting; something that wouldn't raise the subject of his health. You must know such people.

Anything as bromidic as "You're looking fine" invites exposure to a half hour of boredom with this guy; a session about as cheerful as a visit to a morgue.

Frank Tripp

The technique for handling his ilk approaches a lost art; if indeed there ever was a way to curb them.

The odds are ten to one that you can't keep them off the topic of their misery for the first minute and a hundred to one on the first five minutes.

The gloom that they spread is appalling.

WHY IS IT that, for the sake of something to talk about, people must make conversation of their ailments or harp on topics that bore and cannot possibly interest others?

The worst pest of them all is the diagnostician of his own troubles and his case histories of his ills and those of his family and relatives.

But there are others, and almost always it is ego that gives people disagreeable habits of conversation—the braggers.

Hard to take are the long-drawn tales of achievements of self, children and in-laws that invariably end in an anticlimax at which you're supposed to be thrilled, and be exposed to another astonisher even less interesting.

* * *

"PHILOSOPHERS" abound in the realm of abysmal conversation. Experts on no subject whatsoever who expound long and foolishly on things they know nothing about.

You're half lucky if you don't know either. If you do, there's only one out: get away before you find yourself arguing with a fool.

Deprive some people of their annoying topics and there's little left to talk about except the weather; a pretty safe topic at that, since all know so little about it and all have some interest in it.

The weather, as a conversational item, drab though it is, is the cue of pattern to universally bearable chatter where others' interests are not known.

* * *

ONE MIGHT BETTER talk to a tape recorder than to another person who is not interested in what he says.

The artful conversationalist talks of things that concern his listener; or he sticks with something like the weather until he learns what others' interests are.

The expert salesman invariably is the better conversationalist. His calling demands the caution so seldom exercised by others. He studies the personal interests of his customers. He talks golf to the golfer, fishing to the angler, books to the reader. He makes it easy for others to talk to him.

It is as simple as asking oneself before starting to talk: "How, in heaven's name, could my listener be interested in that?"

The formula would silence a lot of people who talk the most with little worth-while to say, and keep together the birds of a feather: the palaverers, flatterers, neurotics and gossips.

Estelle Dorothy Fatum and Army Officer Lt. Charles King Exchange Marriage Vows

St. James Methodist Church was the scene of the marriage of Miss Estelle Dorothy Fatum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Fatum of 25 South Washington Avenue to Lt. Charles Thomas King (U. S. Army), son of Mr. and Mrs. Marc N. King of 23 Bedford Street, Bath, Me. on Sunday, August 18 at 2:30 p. m.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Dr. Ralph M. Houston of the Methodist Church in Hempstead and Dr. Kenneth N. Alexander, minister of the church.

For the occasion the sanctuary was decorated with white gladioli, candelabra and a spider plant.

Robert Fatum, uncle of the bride and soloist sang the traditional nuptial refrains to the accompaniment of C. Franklin Pierce, organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of Chantilly lace with nylon tulle over slipper satin. Her lace bodice with picture neckline featured long pointed sleeves. A very full tulle skirt with appliques of lace trimmed with iridescent sequins and skirt ended in a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of pure silk illusion was secured to a cloche of Chantilly lace trimmed with dropped pearls. She carried a cascade of white roses with white orchid center.

Sister of the bridegroom, Miss Laura M. King of St. Mary's Street, Boston, Mass. served as maid of honor and wore a ballerina gown of nylon chiffon in cotillion blue, styled with an Empire bodice, very full skirt and flowing back panels. Her headpiece consisted of a coronet of small velvet flowers with circular veil in cotillion blue. She carred a basket of mixed flowers.

The bridesmaids included Miss Edna J. King, sister of the bridegroom of Bath, Me. and Miss Margaret S. Danford, sorority sister of the bride of Kingston. They wore coral gowns identical in design to that of the maid of honor with corresponding headpieces and both carried baskets of mixed flowers.

Cousin of the bride, Delores Fatum served as junior bridesmaid and wore a floor length coral gown of nylon chiffon fashioned in similar style to that of the other attendants with matching coronet. She carried a basket of mixed flowers.

Arthur Voter of Boston, Mass. served as best man and the ushers included Fred W. Hilse of Lawrence, Mass. and Cornelius Croswell of Kingston. Wayne Fatum cousin of the bride served as child ringbearer.

The bride's mother wore a pink sheath dress of chiffon and lace over taffeta with pink accessories and a corsage of carnations and delphiniums.

The bridegroom's mother was attired in a blue silk organza dress with pink accessories and a corsage of carnations and delphiniums.

Following the ceremony a reception for approximately 100 guests was held in the church vestry.

For the wedding journey through the New England states, the bride chose for her traveling ensemble a silk chiffon print with white accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The bridegroom will soon leave for duty in Germany and the bride will resume her studies at Boston University where she is a senior. A graduate of Kingston High School, she is attending the School of Fine and Applied Arts at the university where she is a member of Mu Phi Epsilon. She will join her husband after graduation.

Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST

Author of "Children Are People" and "Etiquette," etc.

UNINVITED VISITORS AND TACT

Dear Mrs. Post: Would you consider the following behavior rude, impolite or right: We had one couple in the other evening and another couple who are not friends of the first couple, stopped in and stayed the entire evening. We'd hoped to spend this particular evening with the first friends alone to hear the latest news of their visit to our old home town. Shouldn't people at least telephone if they expect to spend an evening and if not, shouldn't they beg off and leave when they find other visitors present who are obviously old friends?

Answer: This depends entirely upon circumstances which I agree should be met with a certain amount of tact. That is, in going to see neighbors and finding others there who are strangers, but obviously very old friends of the neighbors, they should certainly make an excuse and leave — unless earnestly urged to stay.

Gloves Without a Hat

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me if it is in good taste to wear gloves in the daytime when not wearing a hat? My girl friend and I have been arguing about this and of course we both think we are right so need you to settle it. She says that gloves should only be worn when you have on a hat. I disagree and say they can be worn anytime, with or without a hat. What is the verdict?

Answer: With an evening dress gloves are correct without a hat. In the daytime the gloves are also correct even if there is question of the correctness of going without a hat.

Safeguarding the Ring

Dear Mrs. Post: My four-year-old son is to be ring bearer at a cousin's wedding. Will you please tell me if he is supposed to carry the real ring or does he carry a fake one and the best man the genuine? I think it is rather risky entrusting the real ring to a four-year-old child. I would appreciate hearing from you.

Answer: The real ring is usually pinned or fastened with a tiny bowknot to the ring bearer's cushion, or it is sewn to it with a single stitch. In any case the best man must be told beforehand just how to remove the ring.

Economic Group Undecided on Pact

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—With little hope of agreement on a strong economic treaty for the hemisphere, delegates to the first inter-American economic conference were at odds today on what sort of pact to substitute.

High level conference sources said the issue was whether to sign a simple declaration of principles or approve a watered down economic treaty for the Americas.

There was virtual accord among delegates of the United States and the 19 participating Latin-American republics that some sort of document must emerge from the conference, now in its 11th day.

Turnau Players' Last Productions

The Turnau Opera Players have gained their excellent reputation, perhaps for the most part, with their productions of Puccini's "La Boheme," Rossini's "Cinderella" and Mozart's "Cosi Fan Tutte." These three operas are performed so proficiently that they establish the players as a major opera festival group. For the last week they will present all three of these outstanding works: "Cosi Fan Tutte" will be heard on Tuesday night, "La Boheme" on Friday night, and "Cinderella" on Saturday night.

"Cosi Fan Tutte," which was reviewed last week, is a musical and dramatic delight.

In "La Boheme," the role of Mimi is played by Lucille Sullam, whose interpretation of the difficult music is superb. The grace with which Miss Sullam executes the romantic Puccini music is appealing, as is her mature, rich voice. William Nahr is the handsome Rudolfo who copes with the vocalistic demands of his role with facility and sensitivity. Carolyn Chrisman, the vivacious and temperamental Musetta, wins the affection of the audience with her capricious flirtations and energetic bustling about the stage. Marcello, the artist who is confused by Musetta's wiles, is interpreted by David Clatworthy, with gusto and refinement of vocal technique. The two other bohemians, Colline and Schaunard, are played by Marvin Snow and Robert Schuster, who give sprightly performances. Harold Johnson, the landlord, succeeds in captivating the audience with his charming sense of comedy.

"Cinderella" by Rossini is irresistible by its delightful story as well as its enchanting, gay music. Jan Ruetz, as the beautiful Cinderella, glides over some very ornate musical passages with precision and easy flexibility. Harold Johnson, the prince, is a handsome and very royal lover. Marvin Snow, as Cinderella's father, provides a great deal of comedy, as does David Clatworthy, the prince's servant, as he suavely flirts with every lady at the ball, to find out which one is worthy of the prince's hand. The two ugly sisters, Carolyn Chrisman and Lucille Sullam, are delightfully funny.

Arrest Follows Three-Car Crash

A Miami Beach man was arrested on two counts Sunday afternoon following a three-car collision on Route 52 in Greenfield Park.

Raphael Lewkowicz, 48, was arrested by Ellenville state police on charges of proceeding without caution and as an unlicensed operator.

He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Herbert Poppel of Kerhonkson. The charge of proceeding without caution was adjourned until Wednesday night. Lewkowicz pleaded guilty to the charge of unlicensed operation of a vehicle and paid a fine of $10.

Trooper K. H. Vagts reported that a 1955 sedan operated by Moshe Reiss, 19, Brooklyn, a 1950 sedan operated by Louis Brooks of Ellenville and the Lewkowicz car were involved in the collision which occurred at the east end of a viaduct in Greenfield Park.

The Reiss car was traveling west, the Brooks vehicle east when the Lewkowicz car reportedly entered the highway from a side road, causing the Reiss car to swerve off the right side of Route 52.

In order to avoid striking a rock wall Reiss then pulled back into Route 52, crossed the highway into the eastbound lane and struck the Brooks car, continuing into a guard rail on the west side, according to Trooper Vagts.

Brooklyn Youth Held for Thefts At Summer Home

An 18-year-old Brooklyn youth was arrested Sunday afternoon charged with burglary third degree involving the theft of a quantity of household goods from a summer home in Oliverea.

Jose Luis Davila was picked up by Constable Robert Grennie of the town of Shandaken, Cpl. Edward Shannon, BCI, of the Kingston state police, and Trooper H. S. Rhodes of the Phoenicia barracks.

He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace William P. Molloy, waived examination and was held for the grand jury. Davila was committed to the Ulster county jail.

Constable Grennie notified Kingston troopers at 3:10 p. m. Sunday that a summer home in Oliverea had been entered and a quantity of furniture, dishes, etc., removed. The home is owned by Walter Walti of Oliverea.

Davila was found near the scene and investigation disclosed that he had the property in his possession, it was reported.

Arthur Richards, 18, of Brooklyn, reportedly suffered minor injuries to his left arm and hand.

They were Sally Zeigler, 44, New York city, and Murray Minkoff, 40, of Brooklyn. Both said they would see their own doctors. They suffered contusions and abrasions.

Trooper Robert Flynn of the Ellenville state police reported that a 1950 sedan operated by Milton Silver, 42, Brooklyn, was proceeding east on a left curve upgrade when it was in collision with a 1957 sedan operated by Minkoff, proceeding west.

He said the Minkoff car skidded sideways into the east lane and struck the Silver car in the left front with its left rear, continuing some 60 feet and striking an embankment on the north side.

Tsitsera was arrested August 18 at the Town of Esopus Post 1298, American Legion, by Highland state police.

Ike to Get Shot Against Asiatic Flu

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower will receive a shot of Asiatic flu vaccine today. The White House said he has come in contact with at least two persons believed to have been stricken by the disease.

Inoculation was advised by Dr. Leroy E. Burney, U. S. surgeon general, who said persons with a history of heart or lung ailments are more likely than others to suffer side effects from the disease.

Eisenhower had a heart attack in September, 1955.

The supposed sufferers from Asiatic flu who have been in contact with the President are Dr. Gabriel Hauge, an economic adviser, and Thomas Craven Jr., a newsreel photographer.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the decision to inoculate Eisenhower was made by his personal physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, in consultation with the surgeon general.

Two Bail Out, Land Safely In Bay Water

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Air Force lieutenants bailed out of their stricken jet trainer and landed safely in Chesapeake Bay late last night, an Air Force spokesman said today.

The two were identified as Lt. G. K. Bowling and Lt. G. Williams, both of the 3594th Combat Crew Training Squadron, Nellis Air Force Base, Las Vegas, Nev.

The spokesman said the T33 jet trainer had refueled at Andrews Air Force Base here before taking off at 9:58 p. m. for Greenville, Miss.

The spokesman said Bowling, the pilot, reported "a complete failure of the plane's electrical system." Both officers said they believed the plane crashed into the bay.

Both landed in shallow water and waded ashore unharmed, the spokesman said.

The country referred to as Albion in poetry is England.

Cows Are Subject To Disease After Birth of Calves

Even cows are subject to "stress" disease problems.

Authorities of the American Foundation for Animal Health pointed out today that many high-producing dairy cows are stricken with "ketosis" within 10 to 90 days after their calves are born. These authorities said that many farmers do not recognize the great amount of energy used by the highly-productive cow at the peak of milk output, and that many do not understand the great amount of feed a cow requires if she is to produce at her maximum.

The disease usually is caused when the cow does not receive balanced nutrition to maintain both her weight and full milk production. Foundation officials said ketosis could also be a secondary condition resulting from a disease which suppressed the appetite and reduced feed consumption. Symptoms include loss of appetite, constipation, depressed appearance, a staring expression, rapid loss of body weight, and drop in milk production. The sick animal also may show signs of incoordination. Some cows may become lethargic; others may be excitable.

Method of treating the disease depends upon whether the veterinarian's diagnosis shows that the ketosis condition is primary, or is a secondary result of another disease, the Foundation said.

Cows susceptible to ketosis should be put on a high energy level diet while pregnant, and the energy intake gradually increased after the calf is born. It also suggested that a drastic change in environment be avoided to lessen the stress on the cow.

Randall Trounces Burych, 10 and 8, for Wiltwyck Club Crown

Mrs. DeLisio Sets Course Record Retaining Woodstock Title

County Champion Is Two Under Par For the 28 Holes

Birdies Seven Holes To Gain Easy Victory

Shooting 2-under-par for 28 holes, Leon Randall regained the Wiltwyck Country Club championship he had farmed out on lend-lease during a service hitch by defeating John Burych, 10 and 8, in the 36-hole finals Sunday before a slim gallery.

The brilliant shotmaker who is approaching the zenith of the form that should make him a Hudson valley immortal took Wiltwyck's challenging 7,000-yard apart with professional detachment as he toured the morning nines in 34 and 36. He matched par figures on the third nine and closed out the match against the courageous but overmatched challenger with a par-4 on the long 28th (tenth) hole.

Burych, who was booming drives with and past Randall on occasions, posted nines of 38-39 for a respectable 77 in the morning round, only to find himself trailing by six holes. Burych's irons failed him in the clutch. He demonstrated the fine putting touch that is his, except on the 27th hole when a par-4 might have delayed the inevitable a few more holes.

Drama on the 27th

With Randall 9 up and 10 to go, he tried to clear the trees on the dog-leg 27th (ninth. The ball landed in a tree and plopped straight down. Burych, meanwhile, pulled his tee shot into the rough at the left of the dog-leg.

Two brilliant recoveries followed. Randall blasted a driver off the hard ground with an intentional slice that soared on a beautiful trajectory and came to rest about 20 yards from the green on hard soil. Burych cracked a solid 4-wood from the rough, his ball rolling about six inches shorter than Randall's.

Burych played a pitch and run shot to within 4 feet of the cup leaving him a downhill putt. Randall tried to pitch and stop but the ball rolled 12 feet past. He narrowly missed the four. With a chance to stay alive, Burych blew his try for the 4.

The end came quickly on the 28th hole. Both got off tremendous tee shots as they had done all during the match. But Burych fluffed his fairway shot and then was trapped on his third.

Booming 2-Iron Shot

Randall, up the left side of the 10th fairway as is his custom, carefully surveyed the terrain. He started to go for a 4-wood, then switched to a 2-iron. It was a terrific switch. He rocketed the iron shot straight for the pin on a high trajectory. The ball hit the green on the fly and rolled 30 feet past the pin. Burych exploded from the trap in four but left himself a long putt. Randall, meanwhile, was only 18 inches short on his 30-footer and when Burych failed on his fifth he conceded the putt and the match.

It was the second major title for the lanky shotmaker who wrecked the Father Herdegen Memorial field in June. He will bid for the local "grand slam" on Labor Day when he meets the Twaalfskill Club champion in a 36-hole match for the city championship.

Seven Birdies in All

Randall carded seven birdies—on the 3rd, 4th, 6th, 8th, 10th, 20th and 25th hole. He had a good shot at the course record on the morning nine but muffed it on the 7th hole where he was just short of the green in 2 and took a six. On the afternoon nine, he narrowly missed an eagle on the same hole. Burych, fighting a losing battle with his irons, ran down a beautiful 15-footer for a birdie-2 on the 26th (eighth).

The victory earned Randall his third Wiltwyck title. He won the crown in 1949 and 1951 and has been out of action since then.

The result of the two games left Newburgh, Poughkeepsie and Nyack tied for first place with 11 wins and 5 losses and the Beacon Braves (10-6) only a game off the pace.

Russ Ruge of the Poughkeepsie Elks hurled a no-hit, no-run game Friday night against Spring Valley. The son of the former semi-pro great struck out 12 and retired the last 13 batters in order. Cart Bates slammed a two-run homer for the Elks.

Cards 35-36-71 For 10 and 8 Win Over Mrs. Elwyn

Betters Her 1956 Mark By Margin of Stroke

Mrs. Anthony J. (Wiggie) de Lisio shattered her own course record with a one-over-par 71 in successfully defending her Woodstock Country Club women's title Sunday with a 10 and 8 triumph over Mrs. Allan Dean (Kathleen) Elwyn.

Mrs. de Lisio carded nines of 35 and 36 to shave one stroke off the standard she set in 1956. She closed out the match with a par-4 on the 19th hole of the 27-hole playoff.

Four straight pars and a birdie—4 on the fifth hole sent Mrs. De Lisio up on the first five holes. She added another hole on the sixth before Mrs. Elwyn rallied to halve the next three to keep Mrs. de Lisio five up at the end of nine.

Regulation 4s on the 10th and 11th holes upped Mrs. de Lisio's lead to seven holes before Mrs. Elwyn won her first hole with a par-4 on the 12th when the champion slipped one over par.

Misses Eagle

Mrs. DeLisio negotiated the 13th water hole) in par three, then birdied the 14th for the second straight time, narrowly missing an eagle 3-, while a shaky putter was minimizing Mrs. Elwyn's excellent tee and fairway shots. Several times she had a chance to halve holes and extend the match but failed from three and four feet. Mrs. Elwyn carded nines of 43 and 44 for an 87.

With Mrs. de Lisio leading 9 up at the end of 15 holes, it appeared the match would end inside 18 holes of the scheduled 27-hole. But Mrs. Elwyn recovered nicely from the trap on the 16th to get down in four and fired a booming woodshot to the 17th green for a par four.

Drama on Eighteenth

Mrs. de Lisio's iron shot on the 18th was strong to the left and rolled across the green, while Mrs. Elwyn was down the center but short. The champion chipped back to nine feet and narrowly missed the par 3. With a chance to keep the match alive a few more holes, Mrs. Elwyn missed a three-footer to halve the hole in fours.

The denouement came quickly on the 19th hole. Mrs. deLisio's tee shot failed to reach the road dividing the first fairway, but Mrs. Elwyn smothered her drive. A second wood left her short of the bank fronting on the green. Mrs. deLisio blasted a terrific 2-wood shot on her second. The ball rolled past the green near the second tee. She chipped back expertly to within four feet and rammed it down for a a par-4 and the match, as Mrs. Elwyn needed four to reach the green.

The defending champion played the first nine with professional finesse. She hit each green in regulation figures and knocked down clutch putts of four and five feet for pars. She missed a three-footer on the 7th green. The champ was not quite as sharp the second time around but had excellent recoveries to rack up the 36.

The cards:

Par out 444	354	443—35
Mrs. deLisio 444	344	543—35
Mrs. Elwyn 675	355	543—43
Par in 444	354	443—35
Mrs. deLisio 445	344	444—36
Mrs. Elwyn 574	467	444—44

Mrs. deLisio wins on 19th hole, 10 and 8.

Thoroughbred racing began at Saratoga Springs in August of 1864.

Vols Play Kiwanis In Title Opener

Undefeated Volunteer Firemen will risk its spotless streak against the powerful Kiwanis Wednesday in the opening game of the Kingston Babe Ruth League championship playoffs at Dietz Stadium. The series is best-of-three.

The second game is scheduled for Friday at a time to be announced later. The third game, if needed, is tentatively set for Sunday but may be changed depending on how far the BRL all-star team goes in the National Junior tourney at Bridgeport.

Vols won nine games and tied one in regular season play and captured the National Division title. The Kiwanis took the American Division flag with an impressive 8-2 slate.

A consolation game between the two second place finishers in each division—Knights of Columbus and American Legion—will precede the Wednesday opener at 6 p. m.

Boston Hoboes Boast Bag Full of Tricks

Those funnymen of baseball—the Boston Hoboes—will share the spotlight with the inimitable Al Schacht Tuesday night at Dietz Stadium.

Schacht, the renowned Clown Prince of Baseball, wil stage a half-hour performance starting at 7:45 p. m. The Hoboes-Kingston Colonial contest follows, with Billy (The Kid) Ostrom at first base for the locals.

Heading the Hoboes' brilliant fun circus are Slats Spence, the Clown of Clowns, and his stooge, "Dizzy" Andrews, a great baseball buffoon, who have entertained thousands from coast to coast during the past 10 years.

Their antics afield and through the grandstand will keep the fans in a jolly mood. Dizzy, a former minor leaguer, excels in backhand and underhand throws across the diamond.

Already famous throughout the East for their shadowball and pepper ball presentations, the invading Hoboes also present a solid lineup. Some of the outstanding players are Shorty Salata of Texas Tech; Ronnie Sabo, former Brooklyn Dodger farmhand; Lucky Laravee, of the New York Yankees chain and Lefty Sullivan, a St. Louis Cardinal farmhand.

YMCA Boys Defeat Fathers in Softball

The sons frolicked to an 8-5 win over the fathers in a YMCA boys-dads softball game Saturday at the athletic field. Fifty lads and their fathers took part in the game.

The contest was highlighted by the umpiring antics of Lou Costello of East Kingston.

After the game, everyone cooled off with a swim at the Y pool.

Burke Sets Dates For KHS Grid

Football uniforms for Kingston High School varsity and junior varsity candidates will be issued at Kate Walton field house this Saturday and Monday, Sept. 2 from 9 a. m. to noon and from 1 p. m. to 5, according to Coach Willard A. Burke.

Burke has set Tuesday, Sept. 3 for the first practice at 1:30 p. m., at Dietz Stadium. All hopefuls are expected to be present.

Colonials Gain Split in Doubleheader With New York Bullets

White Sox Chop Lead To 4 Games

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Those Chicago White Sox die so hard, who knows? They might just manage to stay alive.

You can smile, pal, but don't laugh. After sweeping a pair from Baltimore, 6-2 and 3-0, while New York lost a single game at Detroit, 7-2, yesterday, the White Sox are only four games behind the Yankees in the American League chase.

By this evening, the difference may be only 3½ games.

By Thursday night, it could be only three percentage points—with both clubs even in the lost column!

Lots of Angles

That's a lot of "may be" and plenty of "could be", yet all it takes is another Yankee loss at Detroit today, while the Sox are idle, and a Chicago sweep in a three-game series with New York opening at Comiskey Park tomorrow night.

all of which could upset the preseason dope, making it an all-the-way race in the AL while Milwaukee runs away with it in the National. The Braves grabbed a 7½-game lead again by defeating Philadelphia 7-2 as Brooklyn knocked off second-place St. Louis, 6-5.

The New York Giants, pressing for the first division, clobbered Cincinnati 10-1. Chicago's Cubs, blanked 3-0 on four hits by Vern Law, bounced back with 16 hits in the nightcap at Pittsburgh for an 8-2 decision.

A's, Tribe Score

In the other AL games, Kansas City defeated Boston 3-2 and Cleveland swept Washington 3-2 and 6-4.

Don't knock the White Sox' chances. The Yankees are only 5-5 at Detroit, and have lost four of six on this final Western trip. At Chicago, the champs will pitch young Johnny Kucks, Tom Sturdivant and an ailing Bobby Shantz (if his injured finger is okay).

Against the Yankees, the White Sox have Jim Wilson, Billy Pierce and Dick Donovan ready — with Bob (Not-Hit) Keegan the No. 1 relief man.

Keegan Excels

It was Keegan who helped get the sweep over the Orioles, throwing a three-hitter in the opener as a follow-up to Tuesday's no-hit job on Washington. The 35-year-old righthander, now 9-6, walked none and retired the first 10 before Bob Boyd's triple and an infield out scored one in the fourth. Al Pilarcik homered in the fifth, but the birds didn't get another hit until Billy Gardner singled in the ninth.

The Sox, scoring two first-inning runs without a hit and pocketing a pair of unearned runs in the second inning of the opener, were blanked on two hits by Bill Wight until the nightcap sixth. Then Sherm Lollar's two-run single and a wild pitch nailed it. Billy Fischer won his fifth, striking out six and walking one in a five-hit relief job after Jack Harshman strained his back in the second.

Take 11-Inning Opener, 2-1, On Jenny's 5-Hitter

Only five adult spectators were in the stands around midnight Saturday night when the Kingston Colonials completed a New York-New Jersey League doubleheader with the New York Bullets.

But as good Colonial fans, they went home happy.

They saw Manager Fred Davi's tossers turn back the New Yorkers, 2-1, in an 11-inning thriller in the opener, then drop the nightcap, 9-4, in seven innings to gain a split for the night and their 4th win of the season. It was the first overtime session for the locals.

Fred Jenny and Paul Giannuzzi were the Colonial heroes in the opener. Jenny pitched his second superlative game in a row, limiting the New Yorkers to five hits and fanning five to get the decision over Dick Mandelbaum, who also yielded five hits and struck out 11.

Stops Slugger

Jenny put the horsecollar on Irving Sussman, one of the league's hitters, "5 for 0."

Giannuzzi had only one hit in five trips but knocked in both Kingston runs with an infield out and a single the third in the last of the eleventh. Jenny yielded the lone Bullet marker in the seventh on a squeeze play.

Sussman turned pitcher in the nightcap and stopped the Colonials on three hits to gain the decision over Joe Beaver. The game was decided as early as the first inning when the Bullets racked up seven runs on three hits, several errors and a wild pitch. Beaver struck out.

The Colonials, who have a date with the Boston Hoboes Tuesday night at Dietz Stadium, wind up their New York-New Jersey schedule next Saturday night against the Brooklyn Windsors at Dietz Stadium.

The scores:

Seven Misplays Prove Undoing of Dutchmen's Mains

Nyack County Welders moved into a three-way tie for first place in the New York-New Jersey Baseball League with a 5-3 victory over the Saugerties Dutchmen Saturday at Spring Valley.

The Rockland County team came from behind twice to post their 11th triumph in 16 starts and tie the Poughkeepsie Elks and Newburgh Dodger Jewels for the top rung. Saugerties' defeat lowered its mark to .500 at 7-7.

Seven errors made the road easier for Nyack which wiped out 2-0 and 3-2 leads. Clark Mains was the victim of the shoddy play which allowed Nyack to count three unearned runs.

Dutchmen Score First

The Dutchmen grabbed the lead at the outset, scoring twice. Boo Schaffer drove in the initial run with a double after a walk. He eventually counted on Bud Miller's sacrifice fly.

Nyack knotted it in the third, featured by hits off the bats of Mercurio and Crowe and Klopchin's sacrifice fly. A boot by second baseman Eddie Riozzi of pitcher Nealy's grounder opened the inning.

Saugerties broke the tie in the fourth as Riozzi scored from third on a wild pitch after drawing a walk. Nyack bounced right back to tie in its half. The run was set up by Don McCaig's miscue which was followed by Biemal's single and a scoring grounder.

Nyack got the go-ahead run in the sixth and it was also unearned. Howie Pierson's single to start things and then came around when McCaig booted a double play ball and Nealy hoisted a sacrifice fly.

Insurance Run

The insurance marker came in the eighth and was driven in by Nealy. Biemel scored the run after reaching base on another McCaig flub.

Mains gave up nine hits and Nealy just three. Nealy struck out nine to his opponent's seven. Mains had the better of it in the walks department, issuing two free tickets to five for Nealy.

Saugerties was scheduled to face Beacon Sunday but the game was washed out.

Springfield Deals Jays Vital Loss

By The Associated Press

The Springfield Giants, obscured for weeks in the cellar of the Eastern League, have left a vivid memory with at least one team.

In their parting game of the season with the Schenectady Blue Jays last night, the Giants inflicted a stunning 17-3 defeat on the No. 2 club. It pushed the Jays another half game back, to 3½ games out of first place.

The league-leading Binghamton Triplets and third-place Reading were idle. At Allentown, Ed Kneuper, knocking in five runs and hitting two homers and a single, led the chiefs to an 8-5 triumph over the Albany Senators.

State Ring Group To Look Into Robinson Hassle

By ED CORRIGAN
The Associated Press

The New York State Athletic Commission took on the unenviable role of arbitrator in a feud involving Middleweight Champion Sugar Ray Robinson, challenger Carmen Basilio and a couple of closed-circuit TV companies today.

Robinson is supposed to meet Basilio for the title on Sept. 23, but he has announced that he's pulling out of the bout if the closed-circuit (theater) TV conditions don't suit him. Right now, they don't.

The promoting international Boxing Club signed with Theater Network Television (TNT) to handle the bout. Robinson claims his contract stipulated that he must agree to the sponsor. He wants another outfit, Teleprompter, to handle it. Teleprompter can bring in more money, he says.

All this has caused TNT and teleprompter to get into a lively feud.

As for Robinson, he might be willing to go through with it if all the theatre TV is thrown out.

The unhappy referee-in-chief: New York Athletic Commission chairman, Julius Helfand.

Giambra vs. Calhoun

Two contenders for Robinson's title — Joey Giambra and Rory Calhoun — Meet in San Francisco's Cow Palace tonight. Giambra, who now mkes his home in 'Frisco, is No. 4 on the list, while Calhoun is No. 5. They fought a draw in Syracuse, N. Y., in June.

Calhoun, who was ahead until the late rounds of the first fight, probably will be the slight favorite. The winner may fight Joey Giardello.

Battle of Unbeatens

Tonight's feature at New York's St. Nicholas arena will send a couple of undefeated, but raw, middleweights against each other. Gene (Ace) Armstrong of Elizabeth, N. J., shows nine decisions in nine trips to the post as a pro.

His rival, Rudy Sawyer of New York, is reputed to be more of a puncher. He has fought 10 times, won nine — five by kayos — and was held to one draw. Dumont will televise the bout to some sections of the country.

Friday TV Bout

Ralph Dupas of New Orleans tackles Johnny Busso of New York in Friday's TV feature at Miami Beach, Fla. Dupas is a rough-and-tumble operator who hasn't been beaten in his last seven fights. Busso, who whipped Larry Boardman in his last fight, shows an impressive 30-4-1 lifetime record.

Gomes Picked

In Wednesday's TV feature—this one in Boston — New England Featherweight Champion Harold Gomes of Provindence will be the choice over Isidro Martinez. Gomes has an unbeaten streak of 12 going for him.

Yesterday's Stars

HITTING — Al Kaline, Tigers; Bob Hazle, Braves — Kaline was 4-for4, including a pair of two-run homers, in 7-2 victory over Yankees; Hazle, upping his average to .526 in 57 at bat as a "replacement," was 3-for-3 with a pair of three-run homers in 7-3 victory over Phillies.

PITCHING — Bob Keegan, White Sox — Followed up his no-hitter against Washington last Tuesday with a three-hitter in the first game of a 6-2, 3-0 doubleheader sweep against the Orioles.

Lester Piggott, winner of the Laurel International race in 1955, won both the English Derby and German Derby in 1957. He is an English jockey.

Michigan State competed in boxing in 1887 during a field day with Albion, Hillsdale and Olivet Colleges.

Spinaway Stakes Tops Card as Spa Starts Final Week

SARATOGA SPRINGS (AP)—Thoroughbred racing entered its final week today at Saratoga — with the hope of producing at least one outstanding juvenile.

The $30,000-added Hopeful on Saturday, closing day of the 1957 meeting, is expected to clear up the muddled 2-year-old picture in the East. Or it could add another name to the growing list of young stakes winners.

Today's feature spotlighted the feminine members of the juvenile set. The 66th renewal of the $20,000-added Spinaway Stakes at six furlongs drew a field of 10, including Powhatan's Pocahontas and Mrs. A. A. Bigelow's Bridgework. Pocahontas beat the favored Bridgework by a head here on Aug. 7.

Long shots continued to dominate the stakes program when Woodley Lane Farm's Reneged won the 55th edition of the Saratoga handicap Saturday.

Reneged, ridden by Bobby Ussery, covered the mile and a quarter in 2:04 3-5 and paid $32.50. His share of the purse, $40,000, brought his total earnings to $188,750.

Hoot Song Pick In Hambletonian

DUQUOIN, Ill. (AP) — Hoot Song looms as the popular choice for tomorrow's betless Hambletonian, the Kentucky Derby of harness racing.

The big trotting stake for 3-year olds, held for the first time on the exceptionally fast baked-clay mile oval at the DuQuoin State Fairgrounds has drawn a field of 21.

The track, given good weather, is donducive to a record but some observers feel the field doesn't have enough class even with perfect conditions.

For the first time since 1940 there will be no pari-mutuel wagering. It is unlawful at state fairgrounds in Illinois. But the railbirds are active and there are unofficial odds floating around.

Hoot Song, sired by Hoot Mon, whose two-minute heat in 1947 at the Hambletonian's former Goshen, N. Y., home stands as the record is rated an even choice. So are Hickory Smoke and Buckeye Demon.

The gross purse is $111,126.25, second only to the $117,117.98 with a record 23 entries in 1953. That race was permitted to be trotted in tiers with all 23 in the field under New York State harness racing regulations.

Wings In Throes Of Losing Skein

By The Associated Press

The Rochester Red Wings aren't primarily concerned with who wins the International League pennant race — Buffalo or Toronto — their troubles are a seven-game losing skid and hanging onto fourth place.

The Bisons and Maple Leafs have been kicking around the league lead in an Alphonse and Gaston act over the weekend, while the Red Wings' fourth place hold remains shaky.

Since Friday, the lead has changed hands four times, and today Buffalo has command by a half game. The Bisons dropped the Maple Leafs from the lead by taking a 7-3 victory yesterday.

Saugerties Man Receives Award Of Island Dock

Lawrence Brackett, of Saugerties, lumber truck driver, has been named "Man of the Year" at Island Dock Lumber, Inc., according to John E. Purvis, general manager, and chairman of the firm's Man of the Year Award Committee.

Brackett, who has been employed at Island Dock since July, 1954, will receive his choice of a major electrical appliance for his home, or the equivalent.

Kingston Runner-up

Runner-up for the annual award was Donald Eigo, a yard man, who resides at 62 German Street, Kingston, and has been employed at the local yard since September, 1955. His award consists of two suits of clothes or the equivalent.

Both men received the congratulations of John D. Schoonmaker, Jr., president of Island Dock Lumber, Inc., at the annual employes clambake held August 18 at Sportsmen's Park, Rosendale.

The "Man of the Year" award was instituted two years ago and is made annually on the basis of five qualifications: customer comment, employe relations, care of company equipment, accident frequency, and devotion to established Island Dock methods and principles. It is open to employes of Island Dock Lumber, Inc., which is the building materials division of the Island Dock group.

This year's winners were selected from among approximately 50 eligible employes by a committtee consisting of Purvis as chairman, R. K. Wood, H. Bezemeer, H. Brigham and W. H. Kuehn. The committee's selection was confirmed by employe balloting in which Brackett received one-third of all votes cast, with the remaining votes being split among nine other employes.

Sailor Is Killed In Freak Mishap On East Turnpike

FRAMINGHAM, Mass. (AP)—Robter E. Burgdorf, 19, of Union Springs, N. Y., was killed early today in a freak accident on the Massachusetts Turnpike.

Burgdorf, a sailor attached to the USS Suffolk County, tied up at Boston, was a passenger in a car with four other sailors.

Police said the car struck a guard rail and bounced back onto the highway. The impact threw open a rear door and Burgdorf fell out. He died two hours later at a hospital.

Michael Yakubics, whose age and address could not be determined immediately, identified himself as the operator of the car. He said he suffered back injuries.

The other three sailors in the car were not injured.

Yakubics said the car skidded on the rain-slick highway.

Duff Critically Hurt In Auto Collision

SPRINGVILLE (AP) — John D. Duff, nationally-known maker of cake mixes, lay critically ill in a hospital today where he was taken following an automobile accident Saturday.

Duff, 74-year-old chairman of the Smith-Duff Co. of Pittsburgh, was thrown to the pavement when his automobile and a second auto collided at an intersection near this Erie County village.

Duff suffered a fractured skull and other injuries. He was taken to Chaffee Hospital here.

He was driving from Conesus Lake where he had been visiting friends to Van Buren Point, N. Y., near Dunkirk to visit other friends.

The driver of the second car, Mrs. Dorothy Fitzgerald, 42, of Brookville, Pa., and two passengers in her car were treated for minor injuries.

Aga Khan's Name Is Linked With Girl, 17

LONDON (AP)—The name of the 20-year-old Aga Khan was linked romantically today with another young woman. This, said the Daily Mail, is really it.

She was identified by the newspaper as Sylvia Casablancas, 17, lovely daughter of a wealthy Mexican inventor. She is a student at Ladies' College an exclusive finishing school at Eastbourne.
